Award in the Smith-Siddons Fight.

Each of the Bruisers Allowed $600 for Their Exhibition.

Corbett Appears on the Stage in the Play "Gentleman Jim."

Sullivan Vaguely Hints About Having Been Drugged and Meeting the Californian Again—A Price Fight With a Fatal Ending.

By Telegram to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] The directors of the California Athletic Club have announced their decision in the Smith-Siddons fight, which was stopped at the end of the fifty-fifth round last Thursday night. The directors declared it an unsatisfactory contest and awarded each of the fighters $600.

Charge for Publication.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] John L. Sullivan was seen this evening in reference to a published story that he alleged that he was drugged before the fight at New Orleans and that he proposed to fight Corbett again. Sullivan said he made no such statement for publication. Of course he had peculiar ideas about the causes which led to his defeat and when he got ready to talk people would be greatly surprised. He may fight Corbett at some later date, but just now, "said the ex-champion, "I'm not of those Edwin Booth fellows, or rather an actor."

Corbett on the Stage.

ELIZABETH (N. Y.), Oct. 3.—James Corbett, the champion pugilist, made his appearance tonight at the star in the play Gentleman Jim. He made a good appearance on the stage and the play was a fairly good one and well presented. Corbett was presented with a number of large floral pieces.

Fatal Result of a Fight.

SIoux CITY (Iowa), Oct. 3.—In a prize-fight at Covington, Neb., early this morning George Roway of Mankato, Minn., was knocked out by Jack Keefe of Sioux City. Roway died half an hour after from injuries received in the fight. The coroner found traces of organic heart disease. Keefe, the referee and seconds are under arrest.

Bank-Wrecker Dann.

Death Claims Him on the Day He Was to Be Tried.

BUFFALO (N. Y.), Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] Edward S. Dann, wrecker of the National Savings Bank, is lying at the point of death. He has been unconscious for forty hours. He was to go into court this morning to plead guilty, but on account of his condition his attorney secured a postponement for a week. There are various rumors as to the cause of his illness, among which is one that he took poison for the purpose of suicide. His doctor declines to state the nature of the illness. It is believed he will not recover. It is now learned that he is suffering from opium poisoning. He is still unconscious.

Mr. Sattoli's Mission.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—A morning paper says that Pope Leo is sending Mgr. Sattoli, president of the Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics, to this country as "legate apostolic" to take up the much mooted school question with the prelates of this country in an endeavor to harmonize their differences of opinion. Meantime the meeting of archbishops, which was to take place in New York early this month, has been postponed until November.

Fire and Several Casualties.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The plant of the Cary Ogen Company, manufacturers of paints and varnishes, on West Eighteenth street, and two or three adjoining buildings, were destroyed by fire tonight. The loss is $160,000; insured. As Engine Company No. 8 was crossing the Burlington tracks on the way to the fire the steamer was run down by a locomotive and smashed, several of the firemen being badly bruised and one fatally injured.

A Change of Faith.

COLUMBUS (O.) Oct. 3.—Dr. W. H. Scott, for ten years president of the Ohio State University and a prominent divine of the M. E. Church, has addressed a letter to the Ohio conference, returning his certificate of ordination and withdrawing from the ministry and membership. He says he is convinced he ought to enter a freer and larger religious life.

A Trusted Employee Goes Wrong.

JERSEY CITY (N. J.), Oct. 3.—It is reported that A. S. Lett, assistant cashier in the freight office of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is a defaulter to the amount of $20,000 cash and $80,000 in checks and has disappeared. He was a trusted employee and had always borne a good reputation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The American Sugar Refining Company (sugar trust) reduced the price of sugar 3-16 of a cent this morning.

The White House Invalid.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Harrison did not rest as well as usual last night, but no unfavorable symptoms resulted.

THE BRIGGS CASE.

The Professor Again on Trial on Charges of Heresy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] The famous case of Prof. Charles A. Briggs, of the Union Theological Seminary, the charges of heresy against whom have been agitating the Presbyterian church for a year and a half, came up this morning at a regular session of the New York Presbytery. The General Assembly at the meeting at Portland, Or., last May refused to accept the presbytery's dismissal of the charges against Briggs and ordered the presbytery to proceed with the trial. The Committee on Trial consists of J. J. Lampe, R. P. Sample and Elders J. J. McCook and J. J. Stevenson. There were present about half of the 218 members of the presbytery. Dr. Briggs, the defendant, was also on hand, also the Prosecution Committee. Dr. Bliss was reflected moderator and Dr. Lampe clerk.

At the afternoon session Dr. Hall raised the question whether the hearing should be public. He favored closed doors, and wanted all reports, even to the press, formulated in the session and sent out. Dr. Briggs replied that he favored open doors.

It was decided that the public should be admitted but that no demonstrations as they previously did the gallery should be cleared.

SHOTS EXCHANGED.

A Nebraska County-seat War at an Acute Stage.

OMAHA (Neb.), Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] There was more trouble at Culbertson today in the Hitchcock county-seat war. A number of shots were exchanged between Culbertson and Trenton men. Nobody was hit. Three companies of militia have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to the seat of trouble. Gov. Boyd is out of the State. Lieut.-Gov. Majors is on his way to Lincoln to take charge of affairs. The troops will probably proceed to Hitchcock county tonight.

A special to the Bee from Lincoln, Neb., says that Private Secretary Morrissey received the following dispatch from Culbertson tonight:

The Sheriff has taken sides with Trenton. Citizens of Culbertson are protecting the town. Send some men at once.

The message was signed by C. O. Fothergill, the Coroner, and sixteen citizens. Acting Governor Majors replied that he has telegraphed the Sheriff to summon a posse and preserve order, and if he fails to discharge his duty to advise him at once. Troops are ready if the emergency demands. No reply was received up to a late hour.

MORE ABOUT MARS.

Astronomers Explain Results of Recent Observations.

Prof. Holden Writes of the Work at the Lick Observatory—Prof. Pickering Tells of the Expedition in Peru.

By Telegram to The Times.

NORTHFIELD (Minn.), Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] The October number of Astronomy, a scientific magazine, edited by Prof. Payne, of Carleton College, contains several valuable papers on the recent observations of Mars. The first is by Prof. Holden, who, under date of August 18, explains the work done by the Lick telescope in California, giving his conclusions as follows:

I may briefly state my individual conclusions as to Mars at the opposition to be that the changes in the surface features of Mars as we now know them are probably not capable of being completely explained by terrestrial analogies. What we are to make of the late called the Pons Juventae, for example, which was a single object in 1877, which was not visible in 1879, and which has been both single and double during the present year? It is conceivable that "an observer on Mars examining the earth in any part of its recent history would have seen such amazing topographic changes as we this year have observed. Not to speak of the changes from opposition to opposition, it appears to me that careful examination of the long series of drawings of Mars, which we owe to Prof. Schiaparelli and others up to the present time, will make it evident that there are enormous difficulties in the way of completely explaining the recorded phenomena by terrestrial analogies unless we also introduce serious modifications.

Prof. Pickering, of Harvard College, writes under date of Arequipa, Peru, August 1. He says:

In seeking to explain the observations, I would merely point out the fact that the changes occurred at a time when snow was melting with great rapidity; that the channel suddenly appeared July 12, which had not been seen at the last previous observation of this region on June 13; that it shortly disappeared again, and in a few days after this event the northern sea was largely increased in area temporarily, or at least that its southern shores became much darker. I think these changes cannot be explained by clouds. We have already observed large whitish patches upon the planet, which undergo certain changes in shape and extent from night to night. We are now studying them carefully, although we find them rather difficult of observation. These changes we are inclined to refer to clouds, although the matter is not as simple as it might at first appear. If these effects are really due to the clouds, they are quite different in character from the other changes noted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The judges' report from the distillers and brewers' exhibition held in Dublin in August was received by the secretary of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners today, showing that of twenty-six samples of California wines which were placed upon exhibition there eleven of them received medals or special mention.

RICHMOND (Va.), Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] Gens. A number of eggs of uncertain age made their appearance through the windows during the progress of the meeting.

FLORIDA POLITICS.

Republicans Have No Ticket in the Field for Today's Election.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.), Oct. 3.—By the general election law passed in 1885, State and county elections in Florida are separated from national and Congressional elections. This is the first year the separation clause of the new statute is operative. On Tuesday Florida elects a Governor, Secretary of State, one Justice of the Supreme Court, an Attorney-General, Comptroller, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Commissioner of Agriculture. All counties choose members of the lower house of the Legislature, and sixteen out of thirty-two districts choose State Senators. All counties choose county officers. There are two full State tickets in the field; that of the Democrats and that of the People's party. That of the former is headed by Henry L. Mitchell for Governor; the latter by Alonzo P. Baskin. The Republicans have a candidate for Governor, N. J. Hawley, but this party is not likely to poll over 500 votes in the entire State.

The Republicans made no nominations this year, either of national electors, congressmen, State or county officers, the reason alleged being the unfairness of present election laws passed by the Democratic Legislature. An agreement is said to have been entered into by which Republican votes will be thrown for the People's party candidates, but as a general thing Republicans are not qualified for election by registration and paying poll taxes.

GEN. SICKLES' POSITION.

He Says He Will Not Take the Stump for Any Candidate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—[By The Associated Press.] A morning paper says: Gen. Daniel Sickles will not go on the stump for Harrison in the present campaign. He made a declaration last evening and shattered the hopes of many Republicans entertained. This hope was based on a published report of Gen. Sickles' speech to his boys of the Third Army Corps at the recent reunion in Washington.

"There was nothing of a political character in that speech," said the General last night. "My reference to Gen. Harrison was not as the candidate of the Republican party, but as a soldier and President of the United States. Neither candidate nor party were mentioned and political significance is given to the speech only by its adaptation to them."

The General added: "For the first time I find myself a sort of pump-gun, with serene indifference upon political parties and partisan contrition. No, I shall not go on the stump for either candidate. I did so with Gov. Hill for Cleveland in 1888 and our reward was to be accused of knifing the ticket. I went out through the State with Gov. Hill in 1888, at Cleveland's request. He had found some trouble to handle the old soldiers, and he thought I could assist in keeping them in line. I found them all glad enough to see me, but they went but they would not be shaken from their determination to vote for Harrison. They said, 'We are glad to see you, General, but you must not ask us to vote for Cleveland.'"

ALLEGED DESERTERS.

Wayne McVeagh and Ex-Judge Cooley Said to Have Left Their Party.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] The Times says: Statements were made of political circles last night with reference to the desertion from the Republican party of two Republicans of national prominence, which caused something of a sensation wherever they were heard. Wayne McVeagh, United States Attorney-General under President Garfield, and ex-Judge Thomas M. Cooley of Michigan, formerly chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, are the men said to have decided to give their support to the Democratic candidates and their indorsement to Democratic issues as defined in this campaign. There was reliable authority for the statement each of these men would soon make public letters in which, over their own signatures, they would set forth the reasons which had led to their change of heart.

ANX ARRON, Oct. 3.—Judge Cooley this afternoon declined to confirm the statement published in the New York Times this morning to the effect that he is about to write a letter bolting the Republican party and declaring in favor of Cleveland. All he would say, was that the statement was unauthorized and that he is in too poor health to enter actively into politics.

SENATOR SANFORD'S VIEWS.

He Thinks the Republican Party Sure of Success.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] United States Senator Leland Stanford arrived today from Aix-les-Bains. His health is not improved. In an interview he said he firmly believed the Republicans will win in the approaching Presidential contest and that the third party will most probably see that they can do nothing and will then go over in large numbers to the Republicans and adopt their views. In part, at least, on the money question.

The McKinley bill, he said, would not hurt the Republicans. Americans

NEW YORK DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The convents of New York State Democratic clubs drew a big crowd to Chicksen Hall today. Most of the persons in attendance in addition to the delegates were attracted to the place in the hope of seeing and hearing ex-President Cleveland, who did not attend, however. The platform expresses firm belief in tariff revision as absolutely necessary to the continued prosperity of the country. The Force Bill and David Martin and M. S. Quay with their methods were roundly denounced. Harrison's administration was also denounced, while contrasted with it was the record presented by the "safe and honorable" administrations of Grover Cleveland, David B. Hill and Roswell P. Flower.

Nebraska Democrats Complain.

OMAHA (Neb.), Oct. 3.—Gov. Boyd left for New York last night. He represents the element of the Nebraska Democracy dissatisfied with the distribution of campaign funds. It is asserted that if the National Committee does not change its plans the State ticket will be withdrawn.

THE HAWAIIAN BROIL.

Washington Officials Consider the Situation Serious.

Orders Sent to the Boston to Remain There and Guard the Interests of American Residents of the Islands.

By Telegram to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[By The Associated Press.] A Washington dispatch to the World says: "According to late advice received at the State Department from Minister Stevens, affairs on the Hawaiian Islands are growing from bad to worse. Serious political trouble, which may develop into a revolution, are feared. That the State Department views the situation with some concern, is shown by a request from Secretary Foster that orders for the cruiser Boston to leave Honolulu for Acapulco, where she was to join Rear Admiral Gherardi's special fleet, be countermanded, and that the Alliance be kept kept at Honolulu until after things are more tranquil. The Navy Department promptly acquiesced. Telegraph instructions to this effect were sent to San Francisco on Saturday last and are in the mail, which left by steamer for Honolulu the same day."

"The orders for the Boston to sail were sent by the Alliance, which left San Francisco early last week, and it may happen that the Boston will get off before the mail steamer arrives with the countermanded orders. In that event another vessel will be sent from San Francisco to join the Alliance in looking after American interests in Hawaii."

"The chief concern felt by the State and Navy Department officers at the situation in Honolulu grows out of the possibility of something happening to destroy our chances of securing control of Pearl harbor as a coaling station."

THE WILDERIDE

A Clatter of Hoofs Between Berlin and Vienna.

German and Austrian Officers Racing from City to City.

Many of the Riders and Their Horses Disabled in the Scramble.

When Foreign News-Ireland's New Viceroy Has a Chilly Reception-Dull Times and a Labor Crisis in England

By Telegram to the Times.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In the long distance ride between Berlin and Vienna, Lieut. Meyer and Lieut. Hohenberg passed Nimburg, Bohemia, last night. This is just half way to Vienna, and the distance, 200 miles, was covered in thirty-five hours. At that point they met the first of the Austrian officers riding from Vienna to Berlin. There is much interest in the competition, and large sums are wagered on the result.

The last of the German riders started this morning. Altogether there are 100 Germans in the race. Of the horses taking part, nine are English thoroughbreds, fourteen English half breeds, five Hungarian, one Russian and the rest Prussian horses. Up to the present time only scant reports have been received of the progress of the riders. Cold, wet weather and thick fog make the conditions bad for the riders.

VIENNA, Oct. 3.—Lieut. Miklos passed Bauen this morning, after riding fifty hours and covering 447 kilometers. It is expected he will reach Berlin early tomorrow.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Standard's Vienna correspondent says: "The ride is turning out to be a senseless sacrifice of horses and riders. Already twenty Germans and fifteen Austrians have been disabled, and every hour brings news of broken-down horses and injured riders, owing chiefly to the insensate desire to do in three or three and a half days what with proper regard to the condition of the animals could not be done in less than five days."

FRANCIS JOSEPH PROTESTS.

The Anti-Semitic Party Rebuked—Count Kalmoky's Late Speech.

BUDA PEST, Oct. 3.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Emperor Francis Joseph received members of the Austrian and Hungarian delegations in the palace today. In course of his address to them the Emperor said that the recent conduct of the anti-Semitic members of the lower house of the Austrian Diet was a scandal and shame in the eyes of the world. He declared that such proceedings as they indulged in could no longer be tolerated, as they rendered it impossible for the Diet to continue its work.

In the Committee of Delegations today Herr Fym, member of the young Czech party, declared that his party entertained no hostility toward Germany or Italy, but was entirely opposed to the Dreibund, and regarded the policy of Austria against Russia with the greatest apprehension.

Count Kalmoky's address was of a peaceful character. He dwelt especially upon the amity existing between the courts of Vienna and St. Petersburg, while between the Russian and Austrian governments, he said, the relations were of a normally friendly character. The Cabinet had received most binding assurances from all the courts and governments of Europe that none of them contemplated aggression. Nevertheless the military preparations that continue to be made in the east and west compel Austria-Hungary to keep pace with them.

Kalmoky's statement that the British Cabinet would continue the foreign policy of its predecessor excited great interest.

DULL TIMES IN ENGLAND.

Tradesmen Vying for Royal Festivities—The Cotton Spinners' Troubles.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Rumors have been circulated for several days past that a large drapery house in the West End of London is hopelessly involved. Commenting on the rumors today the St. James Gazette says:

Several great drapery firms are tottering under the severe depression which has affected all ranks of society. This depression was badly felt last Christmas time. The betrothal of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale and Princess May created a demand for a new style of goods, which were no sooner produced than all demands were blasted by the death of the Duke.

The Gazette concludes by saying: It is to be hoped that royalty will set the ball of prosperity rolling. The announcement that the Duke of York is about to marry would have a magical effect.

The labor outlook in the large manufacturing and shipbuilding centers of Great Britain is threatening. A crisis is probable in the cotton trade that promises more widespread results than any previous troubles between masters and operatives, and in the shipbuilding trade of the Clyde only one-third the berths are occupied, and no new orders are on hand. Fifteen thousand hands who were employed in various capacities about the yards are idle, and those still at work are on short time. To make matters worse the masters have decided to make a general reduction in wages. The Clyde miners have also been notified that wages will be reduced 6d per day on and after the 10th of the current month.

IRELAND'S NEW VICEROY.

Lord Houghton Has Rather a Cool Reception in Dublin.

DEUBLIN, Oct. 3.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Lord Houghton, the new Viceroy of Ireland, made public entry into Dublin today, and took possession of Dublin Castle. The crowd, while unenthusiastic, showed friendly feeling.

When the Viceroy arrived at Westland row there were only about twenty persons on the platform aside from government and railway officials. There were no addresses presented to the new Lord Lieutenant, no reception by the municipal authorities, no sign of public interest. Members of the corporation engaged in discussing the Parnell commemorative services as the Viceroy passed the city hall. They did not deign to look at the procession.

The Pope Siding With France.

Rome, Oct. 3.—The Pope today gave an audience to Von Bulow, the new Prussian Minister. Subsequently the Pope held a two-hour private conference with the new Minister. Though a subtle diplomatist, it is not believed he will be able to change the Pope's policy toward France, which will lead him to oppose the proposed increase of the German army.

A Terrible Disaster.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—By the collapse of a floor in the Normal school at Tarbes, Hautes Pyrenees, Sunday, during a prize distribution 200 persons were precipitated into the room beneath. Over 100 were injured and one child was killed. Three injured died during the night.

Tennison Seriously Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The poet Tennison is seriously ill with influenza and gout. He has been suffering for three days, but was somewhat better today.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—United States Minister Robert T. Lincoln will sail for home soon on a short leave of absence.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

Nuptials That Caused a Flitter in Louisville Society.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.), Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The marriage of Col. Cutbert Bullitt and Mrs. Mary E. Shreve-Ransom was solemnized today with a magnificence befitting the wealth and lofty social standing of the high contracting parties. The bride is the daughter of the late Thomas Shreve of this city and enjoyed a long reign in society as a beauty and belle. Her first husband was Judge S. P. Goodloe, and two years after his death she became the wife of Gen. Ransom. He died several years ago. Col. Cutbert Bullitt has a host of friends and has always occupied an enviable position in society. He is 85 years of age. During the war he was an ardent Unionist. President Lincoln made him collector of the port of New Orleans. His young wife died there, and after the war he returned to Louisville.

ROBBERS ROUTED.

A Plucky Bank Clerk Refuses to Throw Up His Hands.

Shot Down by the Outlaws, Who Then Took to Their Heels—Lively Chase and Capture of the Robbers.

By Telegram to the Times.

ERIE (Pa.), Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] A tremendous excitement was caused in Erie today by a daring attempt to rob the Keystone National Bank. About 12:30 o'clock there were no customers in the bank. Assistant Cashier Frank Kepler and Clerk Charles Liebel were busy on the books, when suddenly a quartette of tough-looking strangers came in, revolvers in hand. The intruders took positions at each of the windows around the desks within, and pointing revolvers at the heads of the two clerks, told them to throw up their hands. Instead, Kepler snatched a paper weight and was about to deal the fellow nearest him a blow on the head when two shots were fired by the intruders. One bullet struck Kepler on the left cheek, inflicting a serious but not dangerous wound. The young man fell fainting to the floor, and the robbers, becoming frightened, ran from the bank and fled up Eighth street.

The shooting attracted a crowd and a number of citizens gave chase. The robbers finding the pursuit too hot, turned on their pursuers and opened fire, but fortunately no one was injured. Finally Special Officer William Doehrl overtook the desperadoes, and after firing one shot at them they concluded to surrender.

On being searched, nine revolvers and a collection of knives and brass knuckles were found on them. The prisoners gave the names of John Courtney and C. H. Hawley of New York city, Dan P. Evans and Charles W. Smith of Syracuse.

HARD ON SAN DOMINGO.

Three European Powers Bulldozing the Little Republic.

New York, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] A curious story is in circulation to the effect that Great Britain, Germany and Italy, jealous of the advantages Americans are reaping from reciprocity with San Domingo, have conspired to overthrow it. The action of Great Britain and Italy is not defined in the story, but it was said that Germany had offered Ulysses Heures, President of San Domingo, an annual bribe for life of $50,000 if he would declare the treaty abrogated. The Consul of San Domingo here today admitted that some countries made a demand on San Domingo, in which they claim that under the clause of the former treaty they are entitled to the "most favored nation" treatment. This alarmed San Domingo. The attitude of Germany was especially dangerous, as all San Domingo's tobacco trade is with Hamburg. This was threatened with duty which would have been fatal. If the demand is acceded to, all Dominican sugar would have to be sent to London, in which case the United States would reimpose sugar duties, accordingly. The Consul said that he was dispatched to talk the matter over with Secretary Foster. He added that Durham, Minister to Hayti, and the German Minister have both gone to San Domingo, and are there in consultation with the President and both are keeping their respective governments informed of the progress of the negotiations. He expects a satisfactory solution of the difficulty.

Mixed-bloods Making Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The War Department has received instructions from the President to send a detachment of troops to the Turtle Mountain Indian reservation in North Dakota to assist the Government Commission now there to carry out their instructions. It is said Canadian mixed-bloods who were stricken from the rolls because they were foreigners, now make open threats to prevent any course of action that does not include them in the deliberations.

A Ruling Affecting Corporations.

PROVIDENCE (R. I.), Oct. 3.—The Supreme Court has handed down an opinion upholding the constitutionality of the weekly payment law. The court held that corporations, being created by the Legislature, are subject to any limitations the Legislature might impose, and did not come within the privileges accorded citizens under the provisions of the Constitution of the United States.

CAHENSLEYISM

Vigorously Assailed by an Episcopal Bishop.

Seathing Comments on the Recent Newark Convention.

The Members Said to Have Spoken as They Were Ordered.

The St. Raphael Society and Its Objects Denounced—Bishop Johnston Says This Country Badly Needs Another Luther.

By Telegram to the Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Bishop Johnston of Texas (Episcopalian) raised a cry of warning against Cahensleyism today on the occasion of laying the cornerstone of the new Episcopalian mission. His remarks were listened to by more than a dozen Episcopalian bishops from various sections of the country, over 1000 of the laity. He spoke of the convention of the German Catholics in Newark last week, and said he denied that the church of Rome is in any sense either an American church or a church for Americans. He continued:

It is a distinctly foreign church, ruled by a foreign authority, believed to be infallible by its followers, who dictates the policy of the church to its partisans. He pulls the strings in Rome and his puppets jump in America. This great convention in Newark assembled to carry out the beliefs of the Society of St. Raphael, which recently held a convention in Germany. Its purposes are first to bring emigrants true to Old World conditions, and warn them against American traditions. Second, to centralize, solidify and isolate foreign Roman Catholics coming here, and so secure them against American ideas. Was this convention in Newark called for the purpose of free speech? No means. We are told that the subjects discussed were carefully selected beforehand, while the sentiments received the sanction of prominent ecclesiastics in other words, the teachers prepared the speeches and the good little boys got up and delivered them. If converted to this character as a confining, hope some day some bad boy like Luther, with the American ideas of free speech, will get up and say something that will produce consternation among the pedagogue.

At the meeting of this St. Raphael Society in Germany the chancellor of the university at Washington vehemently denounced Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland, two patriotic Americans, for being loyal to their country and its institutions. This chancellor taunts Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland as being liberal Catholics who have forgotten that the Pope is in America as well as in Rome. His final aim is that probably these American bishops intend applying the Monroe doctrine to religion. Well, we are free to say that if things go on much further as they have been going, that's just what will be done. Jesuitism has never failed to meddle in politics when it has been allowed to get a following. It has been expelled abroad, but also in this country a self-respecting nation do with a set of officious foreign ecclesiastics who undertake to dictate not only what their own dupes must do, but also the affairs of government must be run?

In conclusion, Bishop Johnston hoped Americans might throw off the galling yoke of a foreign, meddling bishop, bidding him mind his own business on the Tiber and first learn how to make Italy, Spain and South America respectable and respected among nations. Then, he might, with some grace, come over here and tell us how to attend to our affairs.

HE HAD AGREED TO DIE.

A New York Member of the Suicide Club Keeps His Promise.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] J. Barlow Moorhead, aged 21 years, reported to be worth $500,000 and recently a Keeley cure patient, committed suicide today. Moorhead was manager and financial backer of a theatrical company. He had had no trouble other than remorse over inability to keep from drinking. Young Moorhead spent six months at a Keeley Institute and was discharged cured. He told a friend that he never touched liquor again he would blow out his brains. He returned to his drinking habit some weeks ago.

LATER.—This evening it was established that Moorhead was a member of the Suicide Club, and that he had made a pledge to himself that he would not touch liquor again he would blow out his brains. A letter was found in his room addressed to the Coroner, saying that he committed suicide as per club agreement, and requesting a verdict to that effect. Astor Lennan, who spent last night in the room, corroborated the story of the Suicide Club, to which both he and Moorhead belonged. The last week of Moorhead's life was spent in a round of enjoyment, and this morning when he retired he gave Lennan two diamond rings, requesting him to keep them forever.

THE SHORT RIB CORNER.

Cudahy Appears in Court—His Prosecutor Not Present.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Millionaire John Cudahy and his broker, A. W. Wright, appeared in a justice's court this morning to answer to the complaint that they violated the law by cornering short ribs. The complainant was not present and the case went over, the defendants furnishing $1000 bail.

Neither Cudahy nor Wright appeared much worried over the matter. Cudahy said it was another case of the "baby act." No explanation was offered for the absence of the plaintiff, Thomas Kouch. His identity is as much a mystery to the Board of Trade men as to the general public. The attorneys for the defense intimate that he is a dummy whose name figures in the place of certain big shots.

Use Indian's Car in Colorado.

DENVER, Oct. 3.—A report has been circulated that the Use Indians are of their reservation and trouble between them and cowboys is imminent. Gov. Rout was seen this evening and emphatically denied the truth of the report, and that the Indians and settlers are on the best of terms. Annually sensational reports of trouble are circulated, but when investigated they prove to be without foundation.

What the Dingley Bill Accomplishes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The steamship Alliance, of the United States and Brazil Steamship Company, sailed this afternoon on the first direct trip to Montevideo and Buenos Ayres. Under the subsidy provision of the Dingley shipping bill, this line has established direct mail and freight service to the Argentine Republic.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

AT THE OPERAHOUSE—La Cigale.
AT THE THEATRE—La Belle Russe.

SUMMER is lingering in the lap of Fall with a mighty warm seat.

DAVE HILL making speeches for Grover Cleveland is a case of hate's labor lost.

OLIN WELLBORN's jaw is rapidly becoming the issue in the Seventh District.

JOHN SHERMAN is on the stump. "One blast upon his bugle horn is worth a thousand men."

THE "Sweet Singer of Michigan" is supplanted by Hat Monroe, the sweet singer of Chicago-by-Lake-Michigan.

WHEN one reads the tariff plank of the Democratic platform he has the feeling that "the Confederacy is in the saddle."

TULARE county should swap off some of its citizens for a few from Shasta county who are so deft with the double-barreled hump.

In olden times the business man took his pen in hand, now if he takes his typewriter in hand his wife gets into it and then there is trouble.

The poor little quails are now the Evans and Sontag of the bird race, but are not nearly so lucky in keeping out of the way of the gunners.

PROF. HOLDEN, the undiscoverer, has rushed into print, but if he wants to get real popular let him rush out of Mr. Lick's lookery and stay out.

"FAIR POINT" and "Tenderfoot Mountain" are further suggestions for names for some of those hummocks in the vicinity of Wilson's Peak.

If John C. Calhoun wasn't dead, we would be ready to swear that he wrote part of Grover's letter of acceptance. It is so reminiscent of the old nullifier.

LILLIAN PLUNKETT of the San Francisco Call can give Hattie Monroe of Chicago cards and spades and beat her writing odds, besides her price is but four dollars a barrel.

GROVER CLEVELAND, the fisherman of Buzzard's Bay, will find that the American voter will never nibble at his letter of acceptance bait. No indeed, not even if Cleve should spit on it.

If Grover wants to win this fight he will have to come off his perch of dignity and hustle that embombment of his around in quite as lively a manner as though he was in a fat man's race for blood.

CHAUNCEY DEFEW returned from abroad with a suit of English clothes that were considerably louder than the music of a brass band. And now the paragraphs back East are having fun galore with the aforesaid Chauncey about those garments.

ABOUT the only lively piece of campaigning anywhere in the country is in Illinois. The way they are slamming hard names around in that State is decidedly reminiscent of those lively days gone by when everybody was ready to cut, shoot and whoop it up for the nominee.

GEN. DAN SICKLES could probably stomach the ordinary dose of crow, but that feast of buzzard from the bay was a little too much, and he is going to climb that ere stump for Harrison. Gen'l Dan is a carver and that sickle of his will rip the fat prophet right square up the back.

PROF. PAINE of Harvard, who was commissioned to prepare the "Columbian March and Chorus" for the World's Fair dedication, out-Monroes Monroe with his commonplace verse. Here is the closing stanza:

All hail and welcome, nations of the earth!
Columbia's greeting comes from every State!
Proclaim to all mankind the world's new birth!
Of freedom, age on age shall consecrate.
Let war and enmity forever cease.
Let glorious art and commerce banish wrong!
The universal brotherhood of peace
Shall be Columbia's high inspiring song!

ever, when he worked incognito. He says:

On July 29, disguised as a destitute alien, I repaired to No. 3, Arlington place, London, and found W. H. Wilkins, secretary of the Association for the Prevention of Immigration to England of Destitute Aliens, who, after listening to my story of destitution, gave me two letters, one to the Emigrants' Information Office, No. 91 Broadway, Westminster, and the other to the Society for the Relief of Foreigners in Distress, stating that his association kept paupers from landing in England, the others assisting them to leave the country.

I may instance the sham inspections of the steamship companies at Liverpool, when they were not aware of the presence of a commissioner, and the careful inspection they held when a commissioner was there in propria persona; and the fact that when we sought information, or even printed reports, they were refused directly, or the existence of such reports was denied, though we afterward succeeded in procuring them, and in some cases the information sought was flatly refused. While incognito, I found that no medical inspection whatever was held, not only at such ports as Bremen, Hamburg, Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Antwerp, Liverpool, Queenstown, Palermo, Naples and Havre. There may have been physicians around, but the only inspection held when the emigrants embarked was that of their passage tickets.

I have not yet completed the special report on my return steamer voyage, which will show that one of the societies, viz., the Society of Friends of Foreigners in Distress, of which the Prince of Wales is president, assisted me, disguised as a destitute alien, to leave England under the assumed name of William Scot on the steamer Servia of the Cunard line, November 6, 1891.

Mr. Schulthies says that of all societies for assisting pauper emigrants, the most colossal is the Jewish Colonization Association, otherwise known as the Baron Hirsch emigration scheme.

He says it is a matter of public notoriety that British criminals receive short penal sentences and long periods of surveillance to induce them to emigrate to the United States, and that one-half the criminals of Scotland are helped by aid societies to come to the United States.

The German government does not openly assist emigration, but places no obstacles in the way of paupers who wish to leave. The Government Office at Amsterdam is chiefly engaged in expediting to America Jewish refugees and other paupers who arrive there. In Italy he found 160 agents who are not compelled to give bond, with 4000 sub-agents scattered through every province, whose business it is to induce their fellow-countrymen to emigrate.

The Italian government gets a revenue of $3.50 from each emigrant for a passport. His interpreter was in the employ of a steamship company, graded as a steward, and his business was to instruct steerage passengers what to say and how to land at Castle Garden.

In conclusion Mr. Schulthies says: From the foregoing report it will be seen that there are many persons engaged in the business of transferring from the moribund systems of European misgovernment vast numbers of their dangerous, pauperized, diseased, decrepit and criminal population, not only as a safety valve to their own overstrained machinery, but to serve as an element of weakness in this republic, the greatness of which they view with growing alarm.

Some of these persons are the occupants of heirs apparent of thrones, officers of charitable societies and boards, and agents of carriers by land and sea, some of the latter subsidized by foreign governments to monopolize the ocean carrying trade. Others are within bounds of the United States who distribute the human detritus as contract laborers, imported by them to increase dividends at the expense of wages and the dignity of labor. Still others organize these malcontents into groups to wage war on our system of government and endeavor to bury popular sovereignty beneath a mass of un-American jargon and bomb-throwing anarchy.

The remedy is not less conspicuous than the wrong, viz:

(A) The creation of three resident commissions, located respectively at London, Berlin and Naples, the chairman to be a medical expert, with local agents under their direction at the principal ports of embarkation, whose duty it should be to furnish credentials to desirable emigrants, and to report to the Superintendent of Immigration all who are likely to be in conflict with our laws.

(B) The reorganization on an efficient basis of the present system of inspection at our own ports and frontiers.

(C) A protective per capita tax on all immigrants at the point of entry into the United States.

(D) The abolition of the prepaid ticket system.

(E) Improving the steerage for the protection of passengers, so as to afford proper space, light, ventilation and sanitation.

(F) Enabling act authorizing the Nation's Executive to interdict immigration wholly or in part and to enforce a national quarantine in cases of extraordinary emergency, such as war, pestilence or diplomatic exigency.

THOMAS TAYLOR, who has been in Los Angeles for some time, urging the Salt Lake railway project, left yesterday for Salt Lake, where he is to have a conference with Mr. Sage, general freight agent of the Rock Island railway. Mr. Sage's line is one of the heavy influences back of the enterprise, and it is probable that important developments will come from the conference at Salt Lake. Mr. Taylor expects to return here as soon as it is over. Meanwhile the people of Los Angeles will do well to keep up an active agitation of the matter and do the best they can to secure the subscription required for a preliminary survey.

THAT Monroe woman of Chicago, who wrote the World's Fair ode for a thousand dollars, is now in the hands of the critics and is being very efficiently flayed. Hiring a nobody to do the work that a genius is only equal to is quite in keeping with many other things done by the directors of the big show. It looks as though Chicago was not only the slaughter-house of the hog, but was the old original hog herself.

POPE DANA, who formerly called him the Stuffed Prophet, now terms him the Hon. Grover Cleveland. The old man's office cat must be running around the neighborhood and not tending to business.

"CALAMITY JIM" found the bloody chasm still there, but no bridge.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE.—The queen of light opera, Lillian Russell, was given a warm reception at the Grand Opera-house last night, the occasion being the presentation of Audran's opera comique, La Cigale. The opera is of a decided spectacular cast, but the music is also pleasing, although not of an extraordinarily high order of merit. Miss Russell is a picture of bright spirits and rosy womanhood. Her tendency to embombment is so disguised by beautiful and artistic costuming as to scarcely be observable, while her innate grace and charm of manner is so pronounced as to have won for her the glad acclaim of a delighted audience last night. She is a beautiful woman and has a voice that besides being vibrant with sympathy is trained in the most perfect manner. In the closing act of the opera her singing had a force and feeling which charmed her listeners. G. Hayden Combs scored a success by his delightful singing, one decidedly pleasing feature of it being his perfect enunciation. In the duet of the second act his art was especially praiseworthy, while his acting throughout was fully in keeping with his merit as a singer.

Ada Dare made a stately and beautiful "Duchess," filling the rôle with entire success. Charles Dungan as the "Duke" made the rôle of a rascally part, and showed a decided advance in his singing methods. Louis Harrison is always clever, but has been seen here to much better advantage than in the rôle of a rascally part, and showed a decided advance in his singing methods. The dancing is a beautiful feature of the opera and the graceful stepping of the children added much to the attractiveness of the production. The scenery and the costumes were large and well adapted to precision, the ensemble work bordering closely on perfection. The dialogue of the opera is far below the standard and mars what otherwise might be termed a notable production.

The house was a big one and the performance was thoroughly enjoyed as was evidenced by applause and laughter in copious measure. The same piece is under-scored for tonight.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—This house has been improved and brightened up by its new and enterprising owner, William H. Perry, that it is practically a new theater. It is as sweet and clean as a lady's boudoir, and fairly sparkles with the brilliancy of its decorations. The whole house has been transformed from a dingy and malodorous one to one of the neatest and best arranged theaters in the whole country. The audience was lavish in praise of its surroundings last evening and had a double reason for enjoyment, that occasioned by the house's charm as well as that afforded by Jeffrey Lewis's wonderful work in the great part of "Forget-me-not" in the play of that name. The drama is so well known to theater-goers that the praise due its construction, both as to situations and dialogue, may be passed over; but great as was the play, Miss Lewis's performance was a thing of genius as an actress. The lady was at her best last night and fairly dazzled the audience with her almost matchless acting.

The subtle points of the play are accentuated by her until the looker on quite forgets that the scene before him is not a real one. How she plays with those wonderful eyes—at one moment they blaze with passion, the next they appeal to the heart with a fascination that is almost irresistible. Her figure is so plastic as to give the period of her career, and the grace and abandon of her poses is beyond description. She is a story with a shrug of the shoulders and sets the sensorium fire with the witchery of a glance. In her mock appeal for mercy to "Sir Horace Walpole" in the second act she touches the heart with the justice of her plea as though he were her persecutor, but when her mood changes and she utters her laugh of scorn and derision he fellow-actor, the "Assumed" woman, may possibly be in this world. It was great acting we saw last night—acting of that school which is rendered by the actor, but it is in the genius of the sublime poet that ever lived and sung.

The company supporting Miss Lewis is good. Harry Marshall has been especially so. He shows great improvement since he last appeared here and is now a most clever and painstaking actor. Ethel Brandon was also thoroughly satisfactory, and Nick Long deserves more than passing praise for his work as "Prince Malloitti." The complete cast last night was as follows:

Sir Horace Welby.....Harry Marshall
Prince Malloitti.....Nick Long
Baron de Barrade.....Nick Long
John.....Arthur Livingston
Alice Verney.....Ethel Brandon
Rose Verney.....Ethel Brandon
Mrs. Foley.....Phoebe McCallister
Stephanie de Mohrivar.....Jeffrey Lewis
Tonight the strong comedy play, La Belle Russe will be presented with Jeffrey Lewis in the rôle.

Gen. Sickle's Attitude.

It may be considered reasonably certain that Gen. Sickle will not be called upon to go on the stump for Grover Cleveland in this campaign.—[Boston Journal.]

Gen. Sickle asserted at Chicago that 25,000 Democratic veterans in New York would vote against Cleveland, and he is evidently disposed to make his assertion good.—[Buffalo Commercial.]

Gen. Sickle has not yet been placated, nor is there any sign that he was mistaken when he declared at Chicago that the soldier vote of New York would be cast solidly against Cleveland. (St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

One of the most significant defections from the Cleveland ranks is that of Gen. Daniel Sickle, who stated in Washington yesterday that he had "voted once for a Presidential candidate who had sent a substitute to the front, but I don't think you will catch me voting this fall for a ticket that has two such citizens on it."—[Pittsburgh Chronicle.]

The high praise which Gen. Sickle recently paid to President Harrison as a soldier and a public officer was well deserved, and all the more noticeable as coming from a prominent member of the Democratic party. From the General's little fling at Mr. Cleveland, also, it may be inferred that the former is not yet prepared to retract his assertion made at the Chicago convention.—[Boston Advertiser.]

A Democratic View.

The battle in its fury raged
Among the hills of Maine:
Each general his contest waged
With right of brain and brain.
The Nation's eyes were centered on
The outcome of the fray:
For as a die would prophesy
The word and another.

No word then uttered James G. B.
But backed a troubled couch,
And, "Come, you note,
Both 'time and vote."
So Jim paired off.

What cared he for the shaky fence,
The campaign drums and futes?
"It's really of no consequence,"
"Said Jeemy, with Mr. Toots."
"Get those who want to, worry;
"Tis not my day; and then,
Somehow this year my time is dear,
Give my regards to Ben.
Tell Carter not to fret himself."
He laughed a little laugh
And wank an eye
And Jim paired off.

—[Kansas City Star.]

From two and a half acres of yellow egg plums 692 boxes of fruit were sold, bringing $1,50 per 100 pounds at the cannery. This is at the rate of $240 per acre, which is pretty fair, though it has been beaten here at various times. The man who owns a plum orchard of this kind has a good thing, as there are no off years.—[Banning Herald.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] There was a lively bout this morning in Police Court No. 3 between Attorney T. J. Clinie and Prosecuting Attorney Stevens. The cases of seven persons arrested Saturday for illegal registration were called. Attorney Clinie announced that he appeared to prosecute the cases in behalf of the reorganized Democracy. Prosecuting Attorney Stevens objected to proceeding with the cases on the ground that no complaints had been filed and that the matter was a question for the United States courts to take cognizance of.

Clinie stated that he had not come into court to take pointers from what he termed "shyster lawyers." The remark angered Stevens and he struck at Clinie, hitting him on the arm. The courtroom was in confusion in an instant, and Judge Joachim was unable to preserve order. A dozen policemen who had been seated in chairs, jumped to their feet and the disturbance was quelled before Clinie could return the blow.

George M. Waite, who was one of several arrested Saturday for illegal registration, was taken into custody today and booked at the city prison on a charge of perjury. The arrest was made by United States Supervisor of Election Gavagan.

YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE.

Elaborate Preparations Made for Its Eighth Grand Council.

FRESNO, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The eighth Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute will convene in this city Wednesday morning, and remain in session four days. Preparations on a grand scale for the reception and entertainment of the delegates and their friends have been made by local members of the order, and there is every indication that it will be the most successful council ever held. The city is being handsomely decorated with bunting, streamers and flags, and an arch appropriately inscribed has been erected over Mariposa street. When all is completed the city will present a beautiful appearance. Neither expense nor pains have been spared in arranging for the entertainment of the visitors. A large sum of money has been contributed and everything will be on a most liberal scale.

On Wednesday evening a musical and literary programme will be given at the Edison Theater, preceded by a reception. Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco will be present, as well as other members of the Catholic clergy of the State. On Thursday evening delegates and visitors will be given a grand ball and on Friday evening a banquet will be served to the delegates. It is also intended to give the visitors an opportunity to visit the vineyards and packing-houses. In short, nothing has been omitted that would contribute to their enjoyment and comfort.

BRUNER'S CASE.

The Ex-Assemblyman on Trial for Soliciting a Bribe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The trial of ex-Assemblyman Elwood S. Bruner of Sacramento, charged with having tried to secure a bribe to prevent the passage by the last Legislature of a bill affecting ticket scalpers' business, was begun before Judge Wallace today. Attorneys Foote and Beatty appearing for the prosecution and Reddy for the defense.

Adolph Ottinger testified that Bruner offered in Sacramento to defeat the bill for $1500. Subsequently he met Bruner in San Francisco and the latter demanded $1000.

Ex-Assemblyman Bledsoe, who was chairman of the Judiciary Committee, testified that Bruner's brother, as clerk of a committee, had charge of the bill in question.

Secretary of State Waite testified that the bill should have been sent to him, but that it had disappeared and he had not received it.

The court took a recess.

THEY HOLD OVER.

There Will Be No Election of State Senators in Even Numbered Districts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The Supreme Court this afternoon handed down a decision in the matter of the application for a writ of mandamus directing Gov. Markham to call a special election for State Senator in the Sixth Senatorial District. The Court decides that no election is necessary.

This disposes of the question as to whether or not elections should be held in all of the even numbered districts. Senators chosen in 1890 hold their offices until January, 1895, and there can be no election of Senators in the even numbered districts in 1892.

The decision was written by Chief Justice Beatty and concurred in by all of the other justices except Harrison, who is absent. The decision was upon the application of J. W. Snowball of Yolo county.

MAY BE LYNCHED.

Father and Son in Jail at Bakersfield for Heinous Offenses.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] E. A. Dinsmore, father of T. H. Dinsmore, who outraged a young girl, Hattie Winters, at Rosedale last Thursday, was arrested today and charged with intimidating and threatening to kill witnesses who were to testify at the investigation. Both father and son are now in the County Jail. Neither of them are safe, judging from the temper of the people, unless the Sheriff takes some extra precautions for their protection.

The Monetary Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The International Monetary Conference will meet at Brussels, November 22, with seven-tenths of the powers represented besides the United States.

The powers which will be represented are Austria-Hungary, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain, Sweden and Norway, and Switzerland. The delegates from the United States are Senators Allison and Jones, Congressman McGee and Henry W. Cannon of New York; F. A. Walker of Massachusetts.

It is expected Minister Terrill at Brussels will be made a delegate.

EVANS AND SONTAG.

They Are Now Reported at the Sampson Flat Stamping Ground.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] John Lucas, who came down from Sampson Flat yesterday, says he has seen Sontag, and Evans twice in that vicinity during the past two weeks. None of the residents of that section, notwithstanding the reward offered for the outlaws, will make an effort to catch them. They get food and ammunition wherever they call for it, are well armed and mounted and defy arrest.

Lucas says he takes no stock in the published letters purporting to have been written by the fugitives; neither does he believe that they are attempting to cross the valley to reach the Coast. "They are as safe in the country in the vicinity of Sampson Flat as were Capt. Jack and his little Modoc band in the lava beds," he continued. "They cannot be starved out and they never will be taken alive."

Murderous Affray on Shipboard.

BENICIA, Oct. 3.—A number of the crew of the British ship Arthursstone this morning returned to the vessel from a carouse on shore and began quarreling among themselves. Capt. Adams and the first mate attempted to quell the disturbance, and one man was seized with the intention of putting him in irons. He drew a knife and made an attack upon the captain and mate, fatally stabbing the former and severely injuring the latter. The captain had previously had considerable trouble with his crew.

A San Diego Official Steps Down.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—E. H. Miller, the County Auditor, against whom the late grand jury brought accusations of misconduct in office and against whom a suit was pending, resigned today. Frank Grandier was appointed to the office temporarily by the Supervisors.

L. W. Allum was appointed to fill out the term as Recorder, as the new law separates the office of Auditor and Recorder after the present incumbent gives it up.

A Charred Body Found.

PORTLAND (Or.), Oct. 3.—Last night there was a fire in the Kamm block. The charred body of John D. Gray, a carriage-maker, who roomed on the fourth floor, was found in the ruins this morning. John Hewitson, a fireman, was struck by a falling tower and died just before noon. Hewitson formerly resided at San Francisco.

A Government Telephone Line.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—The Government has ordered a telephone line put in at once to the new quarantine station building across the bay on Point Loma, at La Playa, where the old packets ships used to land.

A Cruiser to Be Launched.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Cruiser No. 6 will be launched at the Union Iron Works November 5. It is intended to make the event a notable one and many prominent individuals will be invited.

Six Corpses Flot' Ashore.

WILMINGTON (N. C.), Oct. 3.—A lot of wreckage and the bodies of six seamen have floated ashore near Cherry Grove fishery. There is nothing to indicate to what vessel the men belonged.

The Entombed Ironwood Miners.

IRONWOOD (Mich.), Oct. 3.—At noon parts of three more bodies of men entombed in the Norris mine were uncovered. Only four of the ten bodies have been recovered so far.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES.

The usual number of deaths from cholera occurred in Europe yesterday.

Chicago police deny that the convict Coleman in the Oregon penitentiary is the Cronin murderer.

The Peck case came up again at Albany, N. Y., when the defendants motion to quash the indictment was denied.

By an accident on the Northern Pacific at Northtown Junction, Minn., Freeman Buell was killed. The following were injured: Engineer Carr, J. C. Temple of Liefka, F. A. Husher of St. Thomas, Ont., H. Waterman of Minneapolis, Adolph Myer of Rush City, A. H. Burr of St. Paul, P. B. Warner, news agent, C. L. Grant of St. Paul.

The Mysterious Sword Trick.

[From La Nature.]

Do you suffer from pains in the stomach? We propose the following remedy. Nothing could be more simple or more inoffensive, yet wearing the appearance of "heroic treatment."

You are to thrust into the pit of your stomach the blade of a sword, to which is attached, threaded as in a needle, a long, red ribbon. As soon as you are thus impaled, the sword is to be seized by the point and pulled completely through the body; then the ribbon is drawn forward, backward, in such a manner as to secure a complete cleansing of the stomach.

But a truce to pleasantry!

The sword used in this recreation is a simple, steel blade, is not at all sharp, is thin and flexible, such as seen in our illustration at A. The point of the sword is sufficiently blunt to avoid any danger of being broken.

The prestidigitator, whose body will be simply half encircled, but apparently pierced, by the sword, wears around his body, under his waistcoat, a sort of girdle, which consists of a rectangular tube, bent into the form of a semi-circle, the ends of which are turned back in opposite directions, in such a manner as to be in line with each other, the two orifices opening, one in front and the other behind, at right angles to the chest and to the back of the operator (see fig. b). This tube is held in place by straps attached to little buckles at the two extremities. It is the prestidigitator himself, who, apparently seizing the point of the sword instinctively, as if to defend himself, inserts it between the buttoning of his vest, into the metallic tube, it comes out at the back between the buckles, in such a manner as to come out in the small of the back, as in our illustration, but then an opening would have to be made in the back of the coat.

The illusion is complete, for the reason that the flexible blade of the sword, after following the curve around the body, comes out straight from the end of the tube because of the form of the latter. Only it is necessary to perform the trick rapidly in order that the spectators may not have time to observe that the length of the sword is diminished for the moment, the curved line which it follows in its passage not being the shortest distance from entrance to outlet of the tube.

You will, perhaps, still entertain a doubt as to the efficiency of our remedy, but, frankly, it is not quite as good as many another!

TAMMANY?

Edward Marshall's Story of the Tiger's Lair.

One of the Greatest Political Machines in the World.

The Evolution of Tammany, Its Personnel and Its Methods.

Richard Croker "The King of New York"—Men Who Have Won Infamy in Tammany—Cleveland Fell Down.

Special Correspondence to The Times.

New York, Sept. 26.—In the middle of that strange section of Fourteenth street which lies between Third and Fourth avenues is a red brick building of surpassing architectural ugliness. It is surrounded by a huge cyp. A niche in this cap protects a well executed and heroically proportioned statue of an Indian. The sculptured brave looks down on two of the busiest sidewalks in New York.

Across the street from him is a gaudy concert hall, whose doors swing to and fro all afternoon and evening as painted women and flashy men pass in and out. Closely crowding this temple of worldliness is a temple of another sort—a rough stone chapel belonging to Grace Church. Near by in both directions are great saloons, and within a stone's throw up the street is a neatly veiled and unobtrusive gambling den. Thus the good and the bad are strangely mixed in the human throng that rushes along the sidewalk opposite the Indian.

The pedestrians who choose to walk on his own side of the street are of a different class. This hurrying crowd holds its volume swells to admit the throngs from Tony Pastor's theater and the great Academy of Music, and all day and long into the evening there are scattered through it well dressed, carefully groomed and comfortable looking men, who carry on their natty persons an indescribable air which stamps them as belonging to a distinct class seen in such numbers nowhere else on New York streets. These men are either going to or coming from the building on which the Indian is perched.

THE MASTER OF THE INDIAN. To the right of the broad stairs that lead from the sidewalk to the ground floor of this building are several big plate glass windows, and in one of these windows almost every day, from 10 o'clock until nearly 5, the head of the big business that is carried on within may be seen. Sometimes he stands and looks out at the curious human nature on the street; but oftener sits at a little desk in the window nearest to the entrance.

His broad, full-bearded face is of a type that marks him as a man of large ability and business-like methods. A speculative student of human nature might select him as the manager of some big railroad or the president of a bank. This guess would be not unjustified by facts, for he is the executive head of one of the largest corporations in New York—a corporation which has more power for good or evil than any other in America; a corporation which virtually employs as many men as there are in the United States Navy, nearly as many as are working for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and half as many as are enlisted in the army of the United States; a corporation that controlled in 1890 the votes of more than 116,000 citizens.

The building is Tammany Hall; the man is Richard Croker, and the corporation is the Society of Tammany.

It was this morning that he summoned the Democratic candidate for the Presidency from his home at Buzzard's Bay to New York the other day. Tammany Hall announced to Grover Cleveland that, without its influence, he could not carry the State of New York, and asked him to make a bargain. He did it. He promised that, in return for Tammany's friendship, he would hand over to her a part of his power as President if he were elected. It was an infamous contract between an iniquitous gang and a cowardly politician. By it Tammany Hall gained a national importance, for she became a national menace.

THE SOCIETY OF TAMMANY. The Society of Tammany, or Columbian Order, was originally organized for benevolent and patriotic purposes, but during the 103 years of its life it has developed into the greatest political machine in the world. Its business is municipal politics. No secret is made of the commercial methods of its workings, but mystery moves around their details.

It may be safely said, however, that in process they are those of a big business. Thomas F. Gilroy, Commissioner of Public Works, is grand sachem, but that really means little. He occupies a position in the guidance of Tammany's business analogous to that of a railroad director; that is all. Associated with him on what may be called the directory of the institution are Hugh J. Grant, Mayor of New York; Gorman, the sheriff; W. Bourke Cockran, whose speech against Cleveland at the National Democratic Convention created such a sensation; John H. V. Arnold, president of the Board of Aldermen and probably the next Tammany candidate; Mayor of New York; Henry D. Purroy, chief of the Fire Department; Charles M. Clancy, Charles S. Simmons, William H. Clark, Charles Welde, Bernard F. Martin and Thomas L. Feltner. These are all known as sachems. Two other men also bear this title, but have duties other than those of directors. One of these is Richard Croker. He is chairman of the Finance Committee and by virtue of that position is practically the president of the Tammany corporation. The other is ex-Judge John McQuade, whose peculiar duties will be explained presently.

The Tammany Society could not have a better master than Richard Croker. He has all the ability necessary to direct the movements of an enormous machine and to originate many of them. If he had not entered politics he would undoubtedly have been at the head of some great industry or financial enterprise, or perhaps him in jail, for once he killed a man. He is a man of broad conception, unshakable determination and an ability to logically look into the future, that would have assured him a high position in whatever field he entered. He is a big man mentally as well as physically. His remarkable power of keeping his mouth shut particularly fits him to be the lead of a semi-secret band like Tammany.

RICHARD CROKER'S PERSONALITY. What methods he follows in carrying out his most important plans only his most confidential advisers know. The rank and file of Tammany is as ignorant of them as is the rank and file of the Republican party. Precisely what is done with the enormous amounts of money which pass through the hands of the Finance Committee is a mystery, for so far as can be learned no books are kept to record transactions which involve astronomical sums. Results alone are written down.

To the unnamed thousands of Tammany Richard Croker is a personage to be revered, and trusted as Grant was by the army. They have only to do his bidding and success will crown the party.

With his intimates he is a genial, jolly companion. With the smaller members of the organization he is a man of great dignity, cold, uncommunicative and awe-inspiring. Almost every afternoon he holds a sort of levee in the committee rooms of Tammany Hall, and is consulted by hundreds of his followers. These conversations are decidedly one-sided. All questions, statements and requests alike are met with monosyllables. The master has a habit of slowly nodding his head while he rubs his chin reflectively with his fingers of one hand, and with that and a few short, calmly spoken words, the other talker must be content for answer.

If a good Tammany man goes to Richard Croker to ask a favor, he generally leaves him with a mind unpleasantly uncertain as to what has occurred. Whether he has asked for a position for himself in some of the city departments or has asked for Mr. Croker's "influence" in behalf of someone else, the result is the same. Croker sits on such occasions with eyes fixed on space and an expressionless face. He quietly listens to the applicant's story, at rare intervals interjecting a pertinent question so that he may surely know it all; and rubs his chin with exasperating reflective calmness. When the tale is finished and the applicant is waiting anxiously for an answer, the head of the material master of every man hired by the city and every man hired by contractors who are in any way dependent on the city government for favors.

Every one of these men has to pay tribute to the machine. A man named Daniel Donegan, who is dubbed "The Winkie" in the lingo of the Tammany society, is the collector. He calls at stated intervals on each appointee and follows this ratio in levying tribute:

$1500 salaries.....30
$1800 salaries.....40
$2000 salaries.....50
$2500 salaries.....60

Of course with the larger salaries still larger sums are collected. Not one escapes paying something. The day laborer, who gets only a few cents an hour for his work, has to pay from 2 to 5 per cent of his trifling earnings when the Winkie calls. There is no escape. Tammany is as greedy as the Church of Rome, and she can back up her claims by refusing to accede to her demands. From the so-called men in the city departments alone she exacted more than $250,000 this year before the present political fight was begun.

And not only does she collect blood money from her hirelings, but she assesses every man, woman and child who comes in contact with her. Every saloon-keeper in New York pays a license fee to Tammany almost as large as that he pays into the city treasury. Every keeper of a disorderly house has to pay part of the ill-gotten gains into the "capacious maw of the tiger." At the time of the famous Dr. Parkhurst crusade this was proven to be true. It was conclusively shown that not a woman of the town plied her trade on street without paying Tammany for the privilege. If she did not do it directly, she did it indirectly.

Some months ago a letter was received from one of these women by the New York Press. It was absolutely authentic and read as follows:

Sir—I am a fallen woman. For three years I lived in a house on Thirty-first street. I know what the life of the poor unfortunate is. When I first entered that house I was given an evening dress and at once I was told to go to the door and look out for $150, three times that the sum of $450 has never been paid back. I never could get $15 together, let alone through my hands. It sounds like a lie, but it is absolutely true.

Who got the money? In the first place the man in the house named Madame told me to go to the door and look out for $150, three times that the sum of $450 has never been paid back. I never could get $15 together, let alone through my hands. It sounds like a lie, but it is absolutely true.

which are paid from the public purse into Tammany office holders' pockets. Thomas C. T. Cram, City Chamberlain, who has absolutely no duties to perform, draws $25,000 a year. William H. Clark, Corporation Counsel, gets $12,000; David J. Dean, Clerk's assistant, gets $10,000, as do Hugh J. Grant, Mayor, and Theodore W. Myers, Comptroller. There is one man who draws $8000, four at $7000 or more, four at $6000, twenty-seven at $5000, fifty at $4000 or more, and so on down the line until nine hundred and thirty cents an hour are reached. Two hundred and fifty-six draw $2000, 251 draw $1800, 3480 draw $1200 and 618 draw $1110. In all there are 6017 of these Tammany hirelings.

They draw in salaries the enormous sum of $10,123,887 this year.

These are the men actually in the pay of the city direct, but they by no means include all the men whose bread and butter Tammany absolutely controls. Every big contractor in New York, even the devoted, himself to private work alone, must have a Tammany controlled by Tammany. This has been beautifully illustrated in the work of the two great cable railroads on Broadway and Third avenue. Of course it was necessary to obtain the consent of the Tammany officials before the streets could be dug up, and in order to get this you may be certain that some assurance had to be given. Tammany never does anything for nothing. It is common talk that T. E. Crimmins, the biggest of these contractors, never appoints a man to any position, no matter how small—he is only to shovel dirt—without the recommendation of Tammany. In other words, Tammany furnishes him a list and he hires as many of the men on it as he can. It would be suicidal for him to go beyond it. Thus, Tammany is not only the political but the material master of every man hired by the city and every man hired by contractors who are in any way dependent on the city government for favors.

Every one of these men has to pay tribute to the machine. A man named Daniel Donegan, who is dubbed "The Winkie" in the lingo of the Tammany society, is the collector. He calls at stated intervals on each appointee and follows this ratio in levying tribute:

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Meeting of the City Convention
Yesterday.A New Departure in the Way of Making Nominations.Large Number of Names Presented,
but no Selection Made.An Adjournment Taken Until Thursday
Evening to Look up Records—Radical
Resolutions Adopted—
Proceedings in Detail.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning B. W. Batcheller, chairman of the People's Party Committee, called the city convention to order in the Operahouse Hall, on Main street. There was quite a sprinkling of ladies in the various delegations and they all took a deep interest in the proceedings. Small-sized babies of both sexes also occupied prominent seats in the main body of the hall and during the most exciting scenes they made themselves heard.

MR. SHEWARD'S SPEECH.
A few minutes before all the delegates had taken their seats J. T. Sheward was invited to make a speech and gave the Citizens' Water Company a hard slap and warned the delegates against the minions of this company. He stated that an attempt would be made to capture the convention and have that body endorse the candidates. He stated that the party must not nominate ex-Mayor Workman, for he is a stockholder in the City Water Company, and notwithstanding the fact that he had promised to sell his stock, the speaker did not believe he would.

He also gave President Bonnell of the council severe rap and stated that that gentleman had not been true to the people who elected him. He had been with the water company from first to last.

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION.
The chair then stated the object of the convention, and informed his hearers that the first order of business would be the selection of a temporary chairman.

E. C. Schnable, W. L. Wolf and B. W. Batcheller were placed in nomination. Mr. Batcheller withdrew in favor of Mr. Schnable, and after a little squabble as to how the vote should be taken it was decided to have a secret ballot and the vote stood:

E. C. Schnable..... 57
W. L. Wolf..... 48

Total vote..... 105
Necessary to elect..... 53

Mr. Schnable was declared the unanimous choice of the convention, and on taking the chair announced that the next business was the selection of a temporary secretary.

Messrs Vinette and Wolf withdrew and Mr. Gunn was unanimously elected to fill the office.

The various committees were then appointed as follows:

On permanent organization—B. W. Batcheller, B. F. Land, A. G. Hinkley, A. R. Street, J. F. Greenan.

On credentials—J. W. Lang, A. N. Schanz, William Stevens, C. W. Soneman, P. H. Maloney.

On motion it was decided to appoint a committee of three to attend the City Council and ask that body to call up the water proposition to determine the question of whether the city shall own the water system.

The chair appointed the following committee: Messrs. John Robinson, Louis Lockett and Dr. Peebles.

A recess was then taken until 1 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Water Resolution Adopted—Nominations for the Several Offices.

Chairman Schnable called the convention to order at 1 o'clock and the delegates hurriedly took their seats.

The first business before the convention was the report of the Committee on Credentials, and the chairman of the committee read off a list of delegates giving three to each voting precinct in the nine wards. The report was adopted.

At this stage of the proceedings the chair stated that there had been many complaints about the hall, and he suggested that the convention move to some other place.

Considerable time was consumed in discussing a resolution to adjourn to Turnverein Hall, after which the motion was voted down by a large majority.

The Committee on Permanent Organization was called upon to report, and the temporary organization was made permanent.

On motion the chair appointed a committee on platform and resolutions as follows: J. Neubauer, Mrs. Alex. Mrs. Hinds, Arthur Vinette and Alfred Moore.

Delegate Robinson, of the committee appointed to visit the Council, stated that that body had just adjourned when they reached the City Hall. The committee interviewed several members of the Council and they were in favor of postponing action on the water question.

WATER RESOLUTION ADOPTED.
The following resolution, offered by the Committee on Water, was unanimously adopted:

That the supply of pure water is the paramount consideration of the hour. That the health of the people, as well as the welfare of the city, demands the public ownership of waterworks. That for years past the supply of water has been inadequate, of foul quality and supplied at exorbitant charges. That unless action is had at once by the City Council it will tend to further prostration, and that every one who fails to support this demand does not appreciate properly the grave situation or is a declared enemy of the people. That, inasmuch as no amendment to the State Constitution is necessary, as full authority for that purpose is provided by article 22, section 223, of the Los Angeles city charter, now in force, that further delay is dangerous to the health and welfare of the city. That any delay on this subject for the purpose of securing a constitutional amendment extending the period to forty years for redeeming the bonds issued or for any other purpose, is unwise and extremely hazardous, as there is no reasonable probability of the coming Legislature or the people voting in favor of such extension, and that all propositions for further delay must be considered, under the circumstances, as being prompted by the owners of the water franchise. That the people are now taxed four times over and above the amount to fall due under such bonds. That the people now pay for dirty water annually about $400,000, while the interest and sinking fund, under a twenty years' payment, would be about $200,000 for the first year, and gradually decreasing thereafter.

A LIVELY DISCUSSION.
Quite a discussion was then entered into by some of the delegates when it was suggested that candidates be named for the various city offices, but not ratified until the convention could look up the records of the candidates and vote for them at some future time when the convention can reconvene.

Quite a number of delegates thought the convention should be very careful in the selection of candidates, while others thought the convention should select its ticket at once and not give the wire-pullers of outside parties time to get in their work.

The report of the Committee on Permanent Organization was presented and adopted.

On motion, it was decided to limit nominating speeches to three minutes, and the delegates were assessed 25 cents per head.

MAYOR WORKMAN EXPLAINS.
Ex-Mayor Workman, who had been charged with standing in with the City Water Company, was then given five minutes in which to explain his position. He stated that he appeared before the convention as a private citizen and not to influence their votes. He said he was not a servant of the water company or any other corporation.

When his mother died a few years ago, she left him a few shares of stock in the company, but he sold the stock and was strongly in favor of seeing the city managing and owning its water works.

Delegate Hinkley proposed to ask Mr. Workman some questions, but as Mr. Workman said he was not a candidate the matter was passed.

Mr. Hinkley then wanted to allow other candidates, who have been charged with all kinds of things, to be allowed to address the convention. The matter was put to vote and voted down.

On motion, it was decided to have the candidates pledge themselves in writing to support the platform of the convention and to declare that they would support the other nominees of the party.

THE PLATFORM.
The chair then adjourned the convention for fifteen minutes to give the Committee on Resolutions time to report.

At the expiration of fifteen minutes the chair called the convention to order, and the Committee on Resolutions reported as follows:

We hold that the administration of municipal affairs should be placed in the hands of capable and honest men without reference to their views on State or national affairs, and that they should only be required to pledge themselves to carry out the reforms herein provided. We demand:

First—The city ownership of the water and lighting systems.

Second—We demand that no more street car franchises be granted, and that which exist terminate as soon as possible to the end that the city shall own and operate all street railways, that wages of employees may be raised, their hours of work lessened, the municipality derive revenue from the use of its streets and reduce fares to two for a nickel.

Third—We demand the establishment of a free public employment office for the protection of wage-earners from the greed of unscrupulous private employment offices.

Fourth—We demand that the city amend so as to allow the city work to be done by the day instead of by contract.

Fifth—We demand the abolition of the chain gang.

A MIXED-UP DISCUSSION.
The convention proceeded to enter into a mixed-up discussion concerning the advisability of taking charge of the street railways, and one of the female members of the convention added her voice to the general confusion.

The convention finally decided to strike out clause No. 2, and the motion was carried.

The following resolution was then adopted:

WHEREAS, it is absolutely necessary to put in nomination only competent and trustworthy men, whose names will give to the people of this city positive assurance of an economical and honestly-administered city government; and

WHEREAS, undue haste in making nominations must certainly result in grave error, therefore be it

Resolved, that in order to give delegates an opportunity to fully investigate the qualifications of all candidates, the balloting on said nominations shall begin Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock and be proceeded with until completed.

FOR MAYOR.
B. W. Batcheller then came forward and placed W. A. Ryan in nomination for Mayor, and set forth his good qualities in glowing terms.

A. G. Hinkley placed in nomination C. M. Wells. He stated that he named Mr. Wells for the reason that the People's party had been accused of standing in with the Democratic party, and if he is taken up by the convention the Republicans will also take him up. Mr. Wells was not a member of the Union League, and he had even gone so far as to oppose Hervey Lindley for Congress.

N. Wittley named W. H. Workman, and H. M. Stevens named William Meek, while E. M. Hamilton placed the name of J. T. Sheward before the convention.

A motion declaring nominations closed was made, but was not put for the reason that nominations should be left open until Thursday evening.

H. P. S. Davis nominated H. T. Hazard.

W. L. Wolf placed Dr. J. H. Bryant's name before the convention and stated that he was not only a friend of the People's party, but would make a good run.

A delegate at this point rose and handled Mayor Hazard without gloves, and stated that the Mayor was not the friend of the working people.

D. F. Loud moved to strike the Mayor's name from the list, and quite a squabble followed, when the delegate who nominated the Mayor withdrew his name.

The numerous gentlemen who had been nominated were called for.

Dr. Bryant mounted the platform and made a short speech, in which he referred to his labors as a member of the council. He was strongly in favor of the city owning its water works and also the lighting of the city.

W. A. Ryan was next called on and made a few remarks and was warmly received.

C. M. Wells was the next candidate before the convention and made a lengthy speech, but was called to order before he was through.

CITY CLERK.
B. F. Loud then took the floor and placed T. A. Gunn in nomination for City Clerk.

E. C. Schnable's name was placed before the convention and seconded by a number of delegates.

Nominations were then closed until Thursday evening, and in a neat little speech Mr. Gunn withdrew in favor of Mr. Schnable.

CITY AUDITOR.
Prof. Schau was the first delegate to mount the platform and placed Theo. Pinther in nomination for City Auditor.

C. E. J. White was placed in nomination for the same office.

J. P. Gortino's name was also placed before the convention.

There being no further names, nominations were declared closed.

ASSESSOR.
W. R. Stevenson was named for Assessor. W. J. A. Smith was also placed in nomination. Emil Rabe's name was also named, and J. W. Hinton's name was brought forward.

CITY ATTORNEY.
W. H. Mitchell was placed in nomination for City Attorney and nominations were declared closed.

COUNCIL COLUMNS

PASADENA.

The City Council Meets in Regular Session.

Several Ordinances Laid Over for Future Consideration—Republican Rally To-night—People Coming and Going—Brevities.

The City Council met in regular session at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. President Wed presiding and all the trustees present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Committee on Auditing and Finance reported favorably on bills to the amount of $563.89. The report was approved and warrants were ordered drawn to the above amount.

A petition was presented signed by the owners of a majority of the frontage on the south side of Chestnut street, between Fair Oaks and Raymond avenues asking that a cement sidewalk, six feet wide, with suitable cement curbing and a cobble stone gutter four feet wide, be laid between these points. The petition was signed by A. G. Throop, president of Throop University, 110½ feet, and D. L. Swan, by his agent, P. G. Wooster, 142 feet. On motion City Attorney Arthur was instructed to draw up an ordinance to this effect.

A petition was also presented asking that Kansas street, between Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues be graded, curbed and guttered at the expense of the property owners. The only signer was P. G. Wooster, owner of 219 feet frontage, and the petition was accordingly referred back for more signatures.

The proposed ordinance bearing on the adoption of comprehensive sanitary regulations next came up for discussion, and had not Mayor Wed desired to take the 10 o'clock train for Long Beach, there is no telling how long the discussion would have been kept up. As it was the ordinance was laid on the table for further consideration at a meeting to be held Thursday evening. The councilmen are unanimously in favor of adopting sanitary regulations that will properly protect the public health, but some difference of opinion is expressed as to just how far such regulations should extend.

Messrs. R. Williams and J. A. Buchanan addressed the board briefly as representatives of the Board of Trade asking that the Council appoint committees from the various organizations of town to confer together on the matter of arranging a suitable celebration for Columbus day. The following is a complete list of the committees so far appointed:

City Council—Mayor O. F. Weed, T. P. Lukens.

John F. Godfrey Post, G. A. R.—Commander G. A. D. Wright.

Paul Kearney Camp, S. of V.—James H. Campbell.

Co. B. N. G. C.—Capt. N. S. Bangham.

Public school—D. Graham, A. L. Hamilton, C. T. Rodden.

School trustees—W. U. Masters, F. P. Boynton.

Throop University—President C. H. Keyes.

Citizens—J. A. Buchanan, R. Williams, M. H. Wright.

These committees will meet at an early date to make the necessary preliminary arrangements for a celebration in keeping with the importance of the occasion, a movement which THE TIMES has strenuously urged for weeks past.

Several other ordinances came up for passage, but action was deferred until Thursday evening.

The meeting then adjourned.

COLUMBIAN DAY.

A number of well-known citizens assembled at the office of Wotkins Bros. yesterday morning to discuss plans for celebrating Columbus day in the American style. J. A. Buchanan was called upon to preside over the meeting and Webster Wotkins acted as secretary.

F. P. Boynton, a member of the School Board of Trustees, stated that the schools would celebrate in accordance with the national programme that has been mapped out. The suggestion met with unanimous favor and a committee composed of R. Williams and J. A. Buchanan was appointed to call upon the City Council and have that body appoint the necessary committees to assume control of the affair.

A uniform programme for every school in America, to be used on Columbus Day simultaneously with the dedicatory exercises of the World's Columbian Exposition grounds in Chicago, has been mapped out. The schools will assemble at 9 o'clock.

The exercises take place about the American flag, which is hoisted on a pole in the yard. The master of ceremony reads the President's proclamation, which is followed by the raising of the flag by the veterans. The pupils then salute the flag. Prayer is next offered, which is followed by the singing of the national song by pupils and audience. The principal address follows on the subject of "The Meaning of the Four Centuries." Next comes the reading of the poem "Columbus's Banner," written for the occasion by Ellen Dean Proctor, and the exercises close with addresses by citizens and the singing of national songs.

TONIGHT'S RALLY.

A great gathering is being planned for the opera-house tonight. William Williams, Hervey Lindley and Maj. Gard will do the talking, and first-class music will be furnished by the Pasadena Band and the Colored Glee Club. While the meeting will be distinctly Republican in its sentiments, members of all the political parties are invited to attend. A special invitation is extended to ladies. The First Voters' Club of Los Angeles will attend in a body. The occasion marks the opening of the local campaign, and it is believed every Republican to assist in making it a success.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Republican mass-meeting tonight. What is this any way—Indian Summer? This will be a lively week at the opera-house.

J. W. Wood has taken up quarters at the Carlton.

The roads outside the city limits are very dusty.

A Rousing Republican Meeting—Uncle Billy Williams's Great Speech.

Never was there so large and enthusiastic a political meeting in Pomona as that of the Republicans here last evening. The Committee on Arrangements had reason to believe that there would be a very large attendance at the opera-house, but again an idea the assemblage would be anywhere near so large as it was. As early as 7 o'clock people from Rincón, Ontario, Claremont, Spadra and Lodi began to arrive in town in conveyances of every description, and long before the doors of the opera-house were opened the streets about the building were thronged with men and women bent on securing seats for the evening. The music by the band was excellent, and it drew several hundred more people from all parts of the county, and when the doors were opened there was a rush for seats. In ten minutes even standing room was hard to get, and a little later there was an assembling of several hundred people out in the street, vainly seeking admission to the opera-house. The enthusiasm of the crowd was unusual, and the music by the band was excellent. The mention of the names of Harrison and Reid were cheered to the echo, and when the Hon. William Williams came forward to speak he was applauded every time he was ever applauded before. Hon. Hervey Lindley, who was the first speaker, was cheered. It would be impossible to tell how carefully and intensely the audience both in and out of the house followed each word of Mr. Williams. His facts and figures came with powerful effect, and his words were heard every one present with laughter. At times he was eloquent, but he was from first to last interesting in a wonderful degree. No man ever held a public audience in Pomona as he did last night. The meeting was presided over by Stoddard Jess.

The people have been very much worked up of late over the new tax rate for the coming year. It has at last been definitely fixed and settled, and will tell you what it is. Last year our rate was 75 cents, but it is considerably higher this year, and 25 cents higher than ever before. Our City Council fixed the rate at 65 cents, leaving the Board of Supervisors to fix the school tax. Last year it was 20 cents, this year it is 35 cents. In addition to this the Board of Supervisors has levied, making the total rate $1.10. The county rate is $1.20, making a total of $2.30 for all purposes. The Board of Education says in regard to the rate of 23 cents for school purposes that they asked for enough for the schools eighteen months this time, as, owing to the change in the law the rate is assessed from July to January, whereas before it was from July to July. The old law expired last July and the board asked for enough for the school from July, 1892, to January, 1894. Last year the school tax was 20 cents. The rate, however, is not excessive as compared with other California towns, in fact it is much below the average.

The news of the death of Mason L. Fenton has come to Pomona. He died at the home of his son in San Diego, Sunday evening. He was an early resident of this place, and for years was deputy sheriff. SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

Another Chapter in the County Hospital Row.

The Assistant Superintendent Arrested on a Charge of Criminal Libel Preferred by the Superintendent—News Notes and Personalities.

SAN BERNARDINO.

Three more short chapters have been enacted in the county hospital Victor-Keating affair. During the absence of Dr. Keating at Sacramento, where he was called to testify in a murder case, the County Supervisors ousted him from the position of superintendent of the hospital. M. T. Butte, assistant superintendent, was also put out. Dr. Keating has returned and caused the arrest of Butte under the charge of criminal libel, preferred because of the charges brought against him some time ago by Butte in order to have him ousted, apparently at the instance of Victor, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. At the meeting of the board yesterday Dr. J. M. Hurley was elected to the position from which Keating was ousted. Dr. Hurley has for a long time been endeavoring to secure the position. As Dr. Keating claims that he cannot be removed from the place without cause, it is probable that the end is not yet.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.

Loveland, who was knocked down by young Yeager in an altercation which took place in front of the Stewart Hotel ten days ago, died yesterday, and the coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that Loveland came to his death from wounds received in a fall produced by a blow. Yeager is awaiting trial for assault, but a heavier charge will probably be brought against him.

RAILROAD AGENTS CHANGED.

The Southern Pacific agents were removed yesterday from the Stewart Hotel Block to the Union Motor depot building, and the agencies of the Southern Pacific and the three motor roads were consolidated. J. A. Carson, who has been freight agent at Colton for the Southern Pacific Company, is now agent for all the roads, and Paul Schoup, ticket agent for the Southern Pacific, has been removed to this place, is made ticket agent for the four roads, with his office at the Union Motor depot. This makes things very awkward, but a number of changes are contemplated among them the enlarging of the depot building, which will give an abundance of room. The change, however, thus far has caused the office of commercial agent of the Southern Pacific Company in this city to be discontinued, and relieved Cassell, who has been ticket agent in this city for the motor roads. An effort is being made to establish a telegraph office at the union depot.

RIVERSIDE.

The most serious accident which has yet occurred at the Athletic Park was that Saturday when Casey Castelman and Will Ruby were speeding upon their wheels. In turning to pass young Wasson, who was in front as a pace maker, Castelman's wheel slipped and Ruby ran into him and was thrown high into the air by the collision.

Castelman was severely bruised and his right cheek pierced by some object. Castelman was also considerably bruised. Ruby was riding a W. A. Barker bicycle, and was injured beyond the breaking of the cork from one handle. Castelman was riding a blue rim Columbia racer, which was struck across an audacious speed. The wheels of the bicycle were rapidly and completely smashed the wheel beyond repair. Ruby had never before taken a severe tumble, but Castelman had fallen several times, and the accident was a serious one for the wheelmen a serious accident will yet befall some one.

In excavating for the addition to the Sloan building being made by the First National Bank, the old cesspool of the hotel, which has been in use for upward of 50 years, is being removed and the contents dumped near the Methodist Church and Y.M.C.A. building, almost in the heart of the city. This has caused complaints, many and loud, to be brought against the contractor, Lynn, who is doing the excavating. The stench from the material removed is almost unendurable, and the character of the refuse and the state in which it now is, makes it a most serious menace to public health. Several families living in the vicinity have said that unless it is remedied they feel that they will have to remove to other quarters for safety. It is strange that in the face of the circulars scattered by the health officers, and the precautions to be taken to insure the public health, the city officials will permit such an affair to proceed under their noses.

RAIN IN EL CAJON.

The season has been a very favorable one for the raisin-growers in El Cajon valley, and an unusually large and fine yield is reported. Not only will this large yield bring a considerable sum of money into the valley, but the employment of the large force required to pick, cure and pack the crop will put a large sum of money into circulation. The following table gives only a part of the growers in the valley.

Name of grower.	No. of acres in vineyard.	No. of men employed.	No. of green grapes harvested.	Total value.
S. M. Marshall.	100	30	30	60
W. W. Scott.	80	25	25	50
J. M. Hill.	75	20	20	40
S. J. Day.	70	15	15	30
U. R. Hill.	65	10	10	20
J. T. Gordon.	100	50	50	100
Dr. Shepard.	12	30	30	15
J. M. Hill.	20	10	10	5
J. P. R. Hall.	35	30	30	15
G. M. Hawley.	20	20	20	10

The great variation in amount of yield, as compared with number of acres in cultivation, is because many of the vineyards are not yet in full bearing. The length of time men were employed varied from three to twenty days. Sweetwater Valley, Poway Valley and the Escondido and San Jacinto valleys are to the front as raisin-producing sections.

VENTURA COUNTY.

The Republican Meeting and Parade Saturday Evening.

The Santa Barbara Republican Club, 150 strong, came down Saturday evening and participated in the parade and later on in the meeting at home. Hervey Lindley, Maj. George A. Gard and "Uncle" Billy Williams spoke. The audience was the largest ever called forth in Ventura upon such an occasion, and was made up largely of the representative Republicans of the county and Santa Barbara. On Friday evening the Mound Club (Marion Cannon's district) organized with an enrollment of sixty-one members. There are ninety-one votes polled in the precinct, altogether, and the county shows a gain of ten Republican votes over last year. Judging from this, as well as the enrollment of other clubs throughout the county, and also from the fact that the Saturday evening meeting, a Republican victory may reasonably be expected on the 8th of November.

A fifteen-year-old boy named Solomon Brice, who resides with his parents at No. 341 East First street, met with a painful accident yesterday morning by being thrown from a horse which he was riding. The accident occurred at the corner of First and Main streets. He was thrown over the horse's head, striking on his forehead, sustaining a cut one inch in length which penetrated the scalp, also a bad flesh wound on the right knee. He was taken to the regis hospital, where his injuries were looked after by Dr. Bryant. Subsequently he was removed to his home.

Diseases of Poultry. (Poultry Monthly.)

Except in the case of very valuable fowls, it is not desirable for a farmer, or any one else, to lose time in attempting to doctor a sick fowl. In a case of roup, it is better to at once kill the bird and burn its remains, as the disease makes rapid progress, and, if once established in a flock, is almost impossible to get rid of. Roup is known in its first stages by fowls sneezing, wheezing or snuffing, sometimes accompanied by a discharge from the nostrils. Later on the discharge becomes thicker and has a very offensive odor. Sometimes the head swells so as to completely close the eyes. The fowl refuses to eat, and, eventually, dies in a very emaciated condition. There are several forms of roup, all of which are infectious and contagious. Should a fowl be running at the nostrils, the virus is conveyed to the others by the sick one dipping its beak into the drinking water and so contaminating it.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

Another New Railway is Promised for Los Angeles.

It Will Parallel Both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific—Visiting Officials View the City—Local Notes.

A dispatch from San Francisco brings information of the filing of articles of incorporation for the San Bernardino and Los Angeles Railroad Company. This is to be a new road about seventy-five miles in length, to be built from Los Angeles to Morongo Pass, where the Southern Pacific now crosses the mountains of San Bernardino county. The directors of the company for the first year are D. S. Dorn, Samuel Miller, F. E. Johns of San Francisco; M. H. Sherman, president of the Consolidated Electric Railway of Los Angeles, and R. A. Day of Oakland. The capital stock is set at $2,000,000, of which $75,000 has been subscribed. The true inwardness of this enterprise is not yet known, but there has been talk for some time of building a road which should run direct from Los Angeles to Riverside, passing through Whittier and Chino, and making connection with some prospective road which should come from the East. The sincerity and financial ability of this company to carry out such an enterprise can be better known later. The directors are all substantial people, many of them interested in the street railway system of which Mr. Sherman is the head.

VISIT OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC OFFICIALS. The party of Southern Pacific officials who went to El Paso the other day on an inspecting trip came to the city again yesterday noon by special train. In the party were J. A. Fillmore, general superintendent; H. J. Small, superintendent of motive power and machinery; J. H. Wallace, assistant engineer in maintenance of way; Messrs. Foster, Brown and others. The visitors went first to Santa Monica to inspect the work on the new wharf, which is now over 1100 feet long and is going out into the ocean at the rate of thirty-two feet a day. On returning to the city they took carriages, and, accompanied by local officials, passed a portion of the afternoon driving about the city. The party will start for San Francisco at 7 o'clock this morning.

SCHAF HEAD. The report that General Passenger Agent Hynes would arrange to have Souag and Evans on exhibition at Redondo, as an attraction to draw another crowd like that of Sunday, could not be verified at headquarters. But that would be a great drawing card, provided assurances were given that the famous men were properly caged. It is announced that for the accommodation of passengers visiting the Sixth District Fair the Southern California afternoon train to Orange, Santa Ana, South Riverside and Riverside will not depart until 6:30 on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and on the same days the evening train to Pasadena, Azusa, San Bernardino, Redlands and intermediate stations will not leave Los Angeles until 7:20 p. m. This will enable visitors to remain longer in this city and yet get home at a seasonable hour.

SERIOUS CONFLAGATION.

Washington Street Car Barn and Other Buildings Destroyed by Fire.

The big car barn of the "Blue Line" Street Railway Company, at the corner of Washington street and Vermont avenue, just beyond the city limits, together with several frame buildings, 350 tons of hay stored in the barn, two cars and one mule, were destroyed by fire.

About 1 o'clock a telephone message was received that the barn was on fire and the fire engines responded, although the barn is beyond the city limits, but they were powerless to do any good for lack of water.

The horses and mules, some hundred or more in number, were got out, with a single exception, and taken to the Twelfth street barn, where there is ample accommodation for them, and traffic was not delayed.

An employe named Peck first discovered the fire in rolling down a bale of hay and gave the alarm, when a telephone message was sent to the engine houses and all the track hands called in to fight the flames. The fire spread rapidly, communicating to the adjoining building occupied by Gibbons & McGinnis as a saloon. Several buildings across the street also caught fire and were destroyed.

Superintendent Akin, of the cable company, the lessees of the "Blue Line," says there were 350 tons of hay in the barn. The hay was insured for $3000 in the E. D. Silent & Co. agency. There is $3250 insurance on the barn, and the loss on the latter is estimated at about $5000. The cars and mule were well covered by insurance, as a total of $3250 is carried on horses and mules and $2500 on the cars.

The saloon of George McGinnis and P.

Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder

F. Gibbons, adjoining the barn on the west, valued, with contents, at about $2500, and was about half insured. Some pool tables and bottled liquors were saved, but McGinnis had his hands badly scorched in getting stuff out. A lot of men and boys got hold of the rescued whisky and many of them sooped around the place with a whooping drunk on.

S. L. Kellar's building was a good two-story frame of ten rooms, two of them store rooms. His loss was $1800 with $900 insurance on the building. He also lost a lot of furniture and some hardware stock.

Mooney's building, next to Kellar's, was a two-story frame of eleven rooms, and nearly all empty. The loss was about $1500. It is said his insurance had run out.

Mrs. Arbuckle lost about $800 on her building, and had an insurance of about $600. The building was occupied by Misses Forest and Fitzgerald as a restaurant, but they saved all their effects. The fire is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. The entire loss will reach probably $20,000.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Plans for a Water Works System Adopted.

Final Ordinance Passed Calling a Bond Election November 2.

The Electric Railroad and the Buena Vista Street Bridge.

A Vigorous Protest Against Allowing the Road to Cross It—The Usual Route. In Street and Sewer Business. Motions and Resolutions.

There was the usual grist of municipal business awaiting the consideration of the City Council yesterday morning, when that body was called to order at 10 o'clock by President Bonsall. Mayor Gaty of Santa Barbara was present and addressed the Council, at the request of President Bonsall, with a few remarks complimenting the city's government and the signs of material advancement and progress on every side.

After the minutes were passed upon, a communication from the Mayor was read in the matter of the ordinance for the grading of Thirty-first street, which, through an error had been mispublished. His Honor recommended that the ordinance be repassed.

An invitation from the Italian residents of the city asking the Council to attend their celebration on October 22, was accepted with thanks.

The usual routine reports from the various city officers were presented and accepted.

THE NEW CHEMICAL ENGINE. The special committee on the location of chemical fire engines reported, recommending that such engines be located one on Pico street, one on Grand avenue near Twenty-fifth street, and one on Central avenue near Ninth street, and, further, that the clerk be instructed to advertise for bids on the same, was adopted.

The Park Commission presented a demand for the payment of an assessment on a certain lot for the opening of Sixth street, amounting to $112.00, which the funds of the commission would not cover, to the Council for approval. It was referred to the Finance Committee.

The matter of the proposed construction of a sewer on Hayes, Water and Walnut streets was postponed for eight weeks.

WATERWORKS SYSTEM. The committee to whom was referred the plans and specifications for the construction of a system of waterworks reported as follows:

To the Honorable the City Council of Los Angeles: The undersigned committee, to whom was referred the plans and specifications for the construction of a system of waterworks, report as follows:

In accordance with your instructions we have submitted these plans and specifications to a committee of engineers consisting of George Hansen, E. T. Wright, Fred W. Wood and August Meyer, whose report to us is hereto attached. This committee having found that the system proposed is properly designed to ultimately supply the whole city with water, and the same system having been also approved at a meeting of engineers heretofore held in this city, we recommend that these plans and specifications be adopted by the Council. Believing that the only solution of the water question is for the city to own and control its own water supply, we recommend that there is an urgent necessity that this should be done as soon as possible, we recommend that the question of issuing bonds for this purpose be submitted to the people at an election to be held as soon as practicable.

THE ENGINEERS' REPORT. The report was received and adopted and the recommendation to adopt the plans and specifications of the City Engineer was adopted.

THE REPORT OF THE ENGINEERS, which was also presented, is as follows: To the Special Committee on Water Supply of the Council of the City of Los Angeles: Pursuant to your request of the 27th inst., we have examined the plans and specifications for the proposed municipal water system, and in the City Engineer's office, the time available for our investigations has limited us to an examination of the general scope of the plan of the proposed system, present on file in the City Engineer's office, and we find:

First—The normal supply of the Los Angeles River at the proposed point of diversion is estimated to be about 100 cubic feet per second. This supply would furnish a population of 124,000 with 170 gallons per capita per day, and this amount is a reasonably good supply.

Second—The means proposed for diverting the water into the main conduit, viz.: a large jointed pipe, surrounded with broken stone and gravel, laid under and adjoining the river bed, will, we believe, accomplish the object, and will deliver the water freed from impurities of surface flow.

Third—The main conduit, from the point of diversion to the site of reservoir No. 7, is practically only a matter of construction, as there is a direct line of travel for this line the entire distance. The grades shown on the profile are sufficient to pass the quantity estimated in this report through a 48-inch pipe, and the same with a velocity safe to the structure. The specifications for the conduit have been examined and are satisfactory.

Fourth—The proposed plant is located at the point which will require the least amount of pumping, and the specifications for the same, calling, as they do, for results, and thus leaving a city free to benefit by the competition of different makers of pumps, we believe will insure satisfactory results.

Fifth—The two distributing reservoirs seem to be well located to accomplish their purpose, which is to supply the higher levels of the city, on both sides of the river, and the specifications will, if carefully followed, give good results.

Sixth—The reservoirs and distribution system, in its main lines, appears to be properly planned, and the specifications, whenever the city chooses to extend the system. We have not gone into the details of the smaller distribution pipes of the system, as we do not understand this to be within the scope of your instructions, as this is a matter largely depending on the conditions existing at the time of construction, and thus leaving a city free to benefit by the competition of different makers of pipes for iron pipe, which we find satisfactory and think will secure for the city an excellent quality of pipe.

Seventh—The general plan of the works we find to be so devised that the whole area of the city can be supplied with water by a mere extension of this system in the future, and in the area of present supply, the several water companies, the plants of these companies can be utilized, so far as they are of proper design, should the city at any time acquire them.

Eighth—The higher levels throughout the city, in East Los Angeles, Boyle Heights and the western portion, are served by the system as at present proposed.

Ninth—The proposed system carries out in the main lines the general plan No. 2 heretofore proposed by the City Engineer and approved by a majority of the engineers of the city, and adopted by the City Council, and provides for the present requirements and those of the future.

GEORGE HANSEN,
E. T. WRIGHT,
AUG. MEYER,
F. W. WOOD.

On motion of Councilman Innes the street superintendent was ordered to continue work on the "fill" on Alhambra avenue, expending the necessary amount of money in such work, providing same amount does not exceed the sum already allotted by the Council.

Councilman Nickell moved that the construction on Truman street be ordered cleared away, and that the Terminal Railway Company be instructed to put in a crossing at Truman and Humboldt streets. It was so ordered.

SEWER MATTERS. The Sewer Committee rendered their report, recommending that the ordinance providing for the construction of a sewer on Inoa and Figueroa streets be passed, notwithstanding the objection of the Mayor. The report was adopted, and the ordinance passed unanimously.

The various recommendations embodied in the report of the Board of Public Works, as published in THE TIMES, were passed upon favorably, and a motion of Councilman Summerland that a wood cross-walk be placed on North Date and East Macy streets was also carried.

STREET WORK. Bids of $875 and $768 for the widening of Seventh street road, east side of the Los Angeles River, were referred to the Board of Public Works.

Thomas Copley entered a bid of $4.20 per foot for the constructing of the necessary repairs on Zanja Madre tunnel, which was referred to the Zanja Committee. F. C. Young presented a bid of $4.66½, and it was also disposed of in the same manner.

The City Engineer reported a draft of an ordinance for the grading of Daly street, one for the grading of Thirty-first street between Main and Grand avenue, and an ordinance of intention for the changing of the grade of Providence street, all of which passed, when a recess was taken until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION. The Council met at 2 o'clock with President Bonsall in the chair, when the first special order, the hearing of protests against the confirmation of the report of the Commission for the opening of Sixteenth street. The protesters allege that the awards are not equitable, that the improvement is not necessary, and that lands are not included in the district of assessment that will be benefited by the same.

G. Wiley Wells, Esq., on behalf of the protesters, then addressed the Council, stating that the protest is made more particularly against the unjust and unequal assessment, rather than against the opening of the street, and gave details in support of his claim, using a map for the purpose of illustration.

John McMillin, on behalf of the Street Commissioners, explained at length the manner in which the assessments were made, and defended the report, saying that the assessments were just and equitable and made after a personal investigation, every piece of property being considered on its individual merits.

After discussion, Councilman Rhodes moved that the matter be referred to committee of the whole, that the Council go over the ground next Thursday afternoon, and that further consideration be postponed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, which motion prevailed.

BUENA VISTA STREET BRIDGE. Councilman Nickell moved that the hearing of the petition for the use of the Buena Vista street bridge by the electric railroad be postponed for two weeks.

A representative of the opponents of the petition addressed the Council, saying they objected to any further postponement of this question. He said that the people who had contributed to the building of the bridge objected to its being virtually closed by allowing the electric railroad to cross it. It was a narrow bridge, and to allow a track across it would render it so dangerous that people would not venture to use it.

Let the electric road build its own bridge, at least add a span to the present bridge, which could be done for a small sum, and preserve this bridge for the use of the people.

Charles Schroeder made a vigorous protest against turning this bridge, the only outlet and inlet for a large section of country, over to a corporation that has a blanket franchise already for the entire city. As a matter of justice, keep this bridge for the use of the people, as they had paid for it.

A vote was then taken, and the Council refused to postpone for two weeks. Councilman Nickell then moved that a postponement of one week be had, saying that it was not the railroad company that was pushing this matter, but the people of East Los Angeles, and they were not ready at this time to present their side of the case. He thought it was due the people that they be given this time.

Mr. Schroeder then made another speech, in which he charged that the electric road had acted in bad faith and they had not kept their promises. Now let them come forward and make some proposition and not put forward the people of East Los Angeles to make their fight.

A vote was taken and the Council again refused to postpone, when Councilman Nickell moved that the petition be filed, and was immediately followed by Councilman Rhodes, who moved as a substitute that the petition be denied. A lengthy debate followed. Councilman Nickell advancing the plea that the electric road was not able to build a bridge and that unless some concession is made two miles of double track and poles and wires on the East Side will be taken up. Mr. Nickell made a long argument in favor of the railroad company and pleaded and begged that the interest of the Eastsiders be considered in this matter.

Councilman McGarry followed in opposition to the granting of the petition, as did also Councilman Rhodes.

It began to look like the debate would continue during the entire afternoon, when the motion to deny was withdrawn and the petition was filed.

WATERWORKS SYSTEM. Mr. Robinson of First street then presented a resolution adopted by the People's Party Convention, declaring in favor of the issuance of bonds for a water system for the city, and briefly addressed the Council, urging that no time be lost, as the matter was of paramount importance and delay is dangerous. As steps are already under way for this purpose the resolution was duly filed.

Councilman Nickell moved that a competent bridge builder be employed at a salary of $4 per day to inspect the city bridges and put them in proper shape by tightening up bolts, etc., before painting, which motion prevailed.

T. D. Stinson was granted permission to use eighteen inches of the sidewalk for his new six-story office building at Spring and Third streets, the architect exhibiting the plans and demonstrating that it would cause no obstruction.

On the suggestion of the Health officer the Street Superintendent was instructed to put a fence up on Castelar street to prevent people from dumping garbage and dirt in the old excavation near the French hospital.

CITY ENGINEER'S REPORT. The City Engineer presented a final ordinance establishing the grade of Broadway from Tenth to Main streets, which motion passed under suspension of the rules, and, on motion of Councilman Rhodes, the City Attorney was instructed to present an ordinance allowing the interested property-owners to grade by private contract.

CITY ATTORNEY'S REPORT. The City Attorney reported in favor of the abandonment of Twentieth, formerly Queen, street, running from Main street to Grand avenue, just back of Washington Gardens, and, the street was abandoned.

The City Attorney also reported drafts of leases with Dilente et al. for land for leasary, and the smelting company for certain water rights on the east side of the river. A lengthy debate followed. The cannery lease was amended so as to provide for five years at $1 per year and the remaining six years at $100 per year, the cannery company to erect a building to cost not less than $5000, but on a final vote the amendments were eliminated and the lease was approved at $1 a year for eleven years, the buildings to revert to the city at the end of that time. The smelting company water lease was approved, it being stated that the smelting company shall construct on or before the expiration of three years proper works.

The City Attorney reported an ordinance of intention for the opening and extending of Castelar street, which passed under suspension of the rules.

WATER BOND ELECTION. A final ordinance calling for an election for the issuance of $520,000 bonds for the construction of a water system for the city, designating the polling places and naming the officers of election, was presented. The date of the election was fixed for Wednesday, November 2, 1892, when the ordinance passed under suspension of the rules.

The City Attorney presented an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to dump garbage into the bonded sewers, which went over for one week.

A. M. Stephens, Esq., as attorney for Hayes & Son of Cleveland, to whom were awarded the $320,000 refunding bonds, presented a contract in which was a clause to the effect that when the money was paid, the city must furnish evidence of the redemption and cancellation of the bonds for which the new ones were issued.

The City Attorney reported that, in his opinion, the city could not accept this contract, and he believed that the clause had been inserted to enable the firm to get out of its contract. He therefore recommended that the $3000 deposit made by Hayes & Son be declared forfeited and the bonds be re-authorized.

Councilman Nickell presented a motion in accordance with the City Attorney's recommendation, which passed by a unanimous vote.

Councilman Rhodes called up the matter of the sanitary condition of the police station, and, on his motion, the Council Committee was instructed to investigate and report.

A letter from a New York firm making inquiries about the refunding bonds was read, after which the Council adjourned.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The History of the Old Cannon—Accession to the Library.

The Historical Society met at Judge Austin's courtroom last evening. There was a fair attendance. Prof. J. M. Guinn gave the history of the old cannon that for years stood at the old courthouse, also that of the two companion pieces that guard the cornerstone at the corner of Commercial and Main streets.

These guns were brought to California from Mexico about the year 1818. They were used in the battle of Cahuenga. They were buried by the Californians in the sands of Arroyo Seco when Stockton captured the city.

His burial place was discovered by Gilmer and his party. He had them taken up and mounted on Ft. Hill. When Capt. Gillespie was forced to retreat to San Pedro he carried the guns with him, and before he embarked his troops on the Vandalia he spiked the guns, broke off the trunnions and rolled them into the bay. Some years afterward H. D. Wilson had them fished out and brought to the city. Two were planted at the corner of Commercial and Main and the other two at Arcadia and Main. These latter were taken up, mounted on improvised carriages and for ten years stood guard over the old courthouse.

Applications for membership were received from Charles F. Healy, Miss Emma S. Marshall and Miss A. S. Hasse.

The treasurer, J. M. Guinn, reported the amount of funds on hand. He also reported large additions to the library.

The society adjourned to meet the first Monday in November.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

"Reader Therefore unto Caesar the Things Which are Caesar's."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Although I recognize the truthfulness of the article published and signed "A Spaniard," in your edition of October 1, I wish to say a few remarks in regard to the comment of the editor of THE TIMES. The promulgators of the Italian circular are in error as to the date to be commemorated. It is October 21.

I admit that the President of the United States, Mr. McKinley, promulgated the 21st of October instead of the 15th, for reasons of change of calendars, as the day to be considered a legal holiday all over the land, and therefore the Italian colony of Los Angeles, at their second meeting, after consideration, decided to postpone the parade to that day, although all over the civilized world it is known that Columbus sighted the first land of the American continent on the 12th of October, 1492. History on her great book cannot alter dates.

Respectfully yours, AN ITALIAN.

A Prehistoric Tooth.

Gen. Bouton's bigartesian well on the Cerritos ranch gushed up a prehistoric tooth last week from a depth of 340 feet that is a great curiosity. It has been placed on exhibition in the Chamber of Commerce exhibition rooms. The tooth is three inches long and an inch square, and the probability is that the animal who wore it had a name that would sound very unfamiliar to the people of 1892.

THE COURTS.

An Important Decision Given by Judge Ross.

Disposition of the Funds of the Broken San Diego Bank.

The County Has the First Claim on the Assets.

The Chances of Other Depositors Receiving Any Dividends are Slight—Said on a Promissory Note—General Court News.

An important opinion was rendered yesterday in the United States Circuit Court by Judge Ross in the case of the county of San Diego vs. the California National Bank et al., upon demurrer of the defendants to the complaints as set forth.

The case involves the priority of right to the funds remaining in the custody and all the assets of the bank necessary to satisfy the said county for moneys deposited in the bank. The suit was originally brought in the Superior Court of San Diego county against the defendant bank and against Frederick N. Pauly, receiver of the same institution, and declares that on the 15th day of August, 1891, C. R. Daner, treasurer of San Diego county, deposited in the defendant bank money in the sum of $5075.70, and took from the bank a certificate of deposit, and that other deposits were subsequently made by the same official, aggregating $10,000, and further, that the acting tax collector of said county also deposited in the bank a total of more than $46,000, the lawful property of the plaintiff.

It is averred that all the moneys so deposited in the bank were in the nature of "special" public and trust funds, and also alleged that no part of the moneys has been repaid except the sum of $2458.27, and that the receiver has collected a sufficient sum of assets of the bank since his appointment to repay all of said deposits, and the prayer was made that the plaintiff's claims against said bank be declared "preferred" and an accounting ordered.

Judge Ross overruled the demurrer to the complaint, as above stated, and the defendants were allowed twenty days time in which to answer.

This decision virtually settles the question of prior right to the funds now in the possession of the receiver of the bank named and leaves small hope that the other depositors will receive any dividends.

Court Notes. The suit of William and Asa Hunter, executors of the estate of Keziah Hunter, deceased, against H. Greenawald et al., to compel payment on a promissory note for $3000, came up before Judge Van Dyke in Department Four yesterday. Judgment was granted the plaintiffs as prayed for, and a ten days stay of proceedings ordered.

In the United States Court in the case of William E. Savage vs. W. G. Worsham, previously considered, the motion to strike out of the complaint certain forms, known as the "amended complaint," was sustained.

H. J. Earl was arraigned in the United States District Court upon an indictment of the grand jury, charged with obtaining from the postoffice a letter addressed to another person.

In the case of the Los Angeles National Bank vs. D. Carr et al., Judge McKinley, upon the motion for a new trial allowed the defendant five days in which to file briefs, when the motion will be considered.

W. Smith, in Department Six, obtained judgment against F. Baumgartner yesterday in the sum of $25, due on personal property.

Emily Porter was granted special letters of administration in the estate of Mary J. Squires, deceased, by Judge Clark.

The appeal in the case of People vs. Ah Jim from Justice Austin's court was considered by Judge Smith yesterday, upon motion of counsel for the appellants hearing was fixed for October 13.

Katie Gross appeared before Judge Smith and a jury yesterday afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. The trouble arose between the two German families, Bond and Gross, over disputed land boundary, in which had names were used by Kate Gross, who was arrested in consequence on complaint of Mrs. Bond. A decision had not been reached at 5 o'clock last evening when the court adjourned.

Dan McMahon, the alleged incorrigible, was remanded to the custody of his father for the time by Judge Smith yesterday.

The calendar for the ensuing term in the Superior Court was set yesterday, with the exception of the departments presided over by Judges McKinley and Smith, who were engaged on urgent cases.

Frank L. Howard, a native of England, and Nathan Naudsberg, a native of Germany, were duly admitted to citizenship by Judge Smith yesterday upon producing the necessary proofs of residence and taking the customary oath of allegiance.

No new suits were filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office save the petition of Alice J. Nicholson for letters of administration in the estate of Margaret Wade, deceased.

Marriage licenses were issued at the County Clerk

ON WATLINGS ISLAND

DISCOVERY OF THE SPOT WHERE COLUMBUS LANDED.

Walter Wellman Tells How He Explored the Bahamas and Settled the Controversy Concerning the First Land Sighted by Columbus—A Fascinating and Instructive Narrative.

(Copyright, 1892.)

In May, 1891, the editor of the Chicago Herald wired me at Washington, "Can you find the spot where Columbus discovered America, and mark it with a memorial?" My reply was, "Will try." If it had been a request to find the north pole or capture a mermaid I suppose the answer would have been the same. The newspaper correspondent is not surprised at anything.

WALTER WELLMAN.

The plan of The Herald was easy to understand. For centuries the identity of the island which Columbus first landed upon had remained unknown. The quadricentennial of the discovery of the New World was about to be celebrated in Chicago with a great exposition, and The Herald thought it proper that the spot at which occurred the most tremendous event in history should be sought out and appropriately marked.

This was a queer task, but a fascinating one. I went at it in characteristic American fashion—that is, jumped at it. I ransacked the Congressional Library and other libraries. I cabled to London for a book which was not to be found in America. I procured from the hydrographic office charts of the Bahamas made by our government and the British admiralty.

Night and day study of the mystery of the discovery quickly showed these facts. In all history there is nothing that throws light upon the landfall save the journal kept by Columbus himself. Five islands had been put forward as the real San Salvador, and hundreds of books and pamphlets written in support of these theories. The correct theory must be based upon two conditions: The island itself must have certain features described by Columbus—lagoon, reefs, harbor hard by a headland through which the sea had cut its way, etc.—and it must lie at certain distances and in certain directions from five other islands visited and described by Columbus. As to the latter condition, inspection of the charts showed Watlings to be the only one that would fit the geometrical lines of Columbus' first voyage through the Bahamas. If it contained the physical features which Columbus had found in his San Salvador, then the mystery was solved. Oddly enough, the learned historians, geographers and cartographers who had supported the claims of the other islands had not taken the trouble to visit the region of which they discoursed. Had they done so their controversy might have come to an end long ago.

Early in June our expedition sailed from New York. We went by Ward line steamer Santiago to Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas, having on board in addition to Charles Lederer, the famous artist of the Chicago Herald, a stone mason, a marble globe, a memorial tablet, thirty barrels of cement, a man servant, a photographic outfit and sundry boxes, barrels, demijohns and bottles containing the necessities of life.

At Nassau we had a narrow escape. The governor of the Bahamas was to leave for England within an hour or so after our arrival, and without his authority we could do nothing. An hour of hustling, the assistance of the American consul and a letter which I had brought from Sir Julian Pauncefote, British minister at Washington, and Governor Shea gave us a letter commanding all the local officials of the Bahamas to place themselves at our command. Lucky for us that we caught kindly Governor Shea. The lieutenant governor, who came into power the minute the governor sailed, was against us. "Impertinent, presumptuous Yankees!" he exclaimed; "to think that you can come down here and in a few weeks settle one of the great mysteries of history!" If the lieutenant governor had had his way we should have been sent back to New York quicker.

Watlings was 200 miles away. We had decided that if a visit to Watlings produced the physical evidence necessary to establish its claims beyond doubt, well and good. If not, we were to study the other islands in the order of their theoretical probability. How to get to Watlings was the question. In the harbor were sloops, yachts and schooners galore. One smelled of her last cargo, Jamaica rum; another of spices, a third of fish, a fourth of poultry. The cabins of all were more cluttered. And it was the season of the year when calms reigned for days at a time. The only steam vessel in port was the steamship tender, a crude craft with a bottom as flat as a street car, keelless and not lovely. Besides she cost a pretty penny. But we bethought the expense and took her, hove into her our cement and supplies, employed some more masons with their tools, bought half a ton of precious ice, hired "Sandy," the most famous pilot of the Bahamas; borrowed an American flag of the consul, and with the stars and stripes flying at masthead steamed away.

A day and a night of alternating calm and storm, through rocky passages and over dangerous shoals, and we were at Cat Island, which Washington Irving made famous and our old geographies solemnly confirmed as the San Salvador of Columbus. For half a day we steamed along the coast of Cat Island, and I examined it very carefully. It bears no resemblance whatever to the island which Columbus described in his journal. For fifty years it has been a San Salvador under false pretenses.

In the afternoon we reached Watlings. Palm trees and hazy vistas, thatched huts and outlying reefs over which the surf broke lazily marked its shores. A boat at once put off to us. It contained all the officials of the island—the local magistrate, the port officer, the postmaster, the sheriff, the colonel of the militia and many more—all in the person of Captain Maxwell Nairn, the only white resident of the island, a veritable Pooh Bah, monarch of a coral isle. His salary is $200 a year, and he has been there thirty years.

Captain Nairn became our guide, counselor, friend and foe. With him we explored the island. A coral rock it is, a dozen miles long and half as broad, containing large lagoons of brackish water, covered with tropical vegetation, nearly surrounded by reefs. Eight hundred negroes live here, tilling altogether probably a score of acres of land, subsisting principally on fish and other sea food. They are an honest, pious, temperate people. Their chief failing is a predisposition toward piracy, and was to the cargo of the ship that was wrecked upon their shores. This piratical tendency they came naturally by, for this coral island was once the rendezvous of infamous Blue Beards, and some of these poor people are no doubt his direct descendants.

But I could see little in this island save Christopher Columbus. At every turn the great discoverer was suggested. The salt lagoon appeared to echo back his name; the sands of the shore seemed to bear the impress of his feet; the surf breaking over the reefs chanted the "To Deum" in imitation of Columbus himself. The spirit of Columbus dominates everything in Watlings, overshadows everything, leaves nothing else to be thought of or written about.

And no wonder. Here was everything that Columbus described in his journal—the "large lagoon in the middle of the island," the luxuriant verdure, the "reefs running all round that island," the hills near the shore, the "piece of land like an island, yet which is not an island, but could easily be made one," as an admirable sight for a fort; the harbor lying hard by, in which "all the ships of Christendom could lie." All these and many more of the things which Columbus described we found, and at first knew instinctively, and later proved to be a mathematical certainty, that this was the birthplace of the New World.

A little bay, two miles from the "piece of land like an island," I chose after much exploration as the very spot at which the landing was made. That this island was the San Salvador of Columbus I know; that this pretty bay, with its overhanging headland and shining beach, was the more particular scene of the discovery I believe. In the nature of things it cannot be proved, though there is much in its favor. Near it is a high hill which Columbus probably first saw in the moonlight of that fateful morning. It is the first bit of coast to the south, free enough from reefs to permit safe landing. It is at a point where Columbus would have rowed "thence north-easterly to see the other side of the island," as he says he did the second morning after his arrival, on this occasion discovering the "piece of land like an island" and the wonderful harbor "in which the water is still as in a well."

On the promontory which lifted its head above the little bay we erected a memorial. It was constructed of coral limestone found hard by. Thirty native workmen were employed cutting roads with their machetes, bringing forward materials, mixing mortar and carrying cement up the hillside. Skillful boatmen brought supplies from the steamer through the dangerous coral reef. The American flag floated from a staff as we worked, and the monument grew day by day. The sun beat with tropical fierceness; our drinking water was dipped out of the hollows of the rocks, warm and brackish. But no one fell ill, and finally the work was finished. It had been well done. Plenty of cement bound the stones firmly together. The result was beautiful. In the coral limestone are all the tints of the rainbow, all the marine forms. Land and sea together had built a memorial to Columbus.

HERALD MEMORIAL TO COLUMBUS. bus, the most expensive in the world nor the least artistic. We dedicated it with prayer and addresses. Magistrate Nairn watches over it week by week. A recent letter from him informs me that the natives under his leadership will celebrate Discovery Day at the base of the simple memorial which bears this inscription in marble:

On this spot CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS First set foot upon the soil of the New World.

Erected by The Chicago Herald June, 1891.

WALTER WELLMAN.

Felipa, Wife of Columbus. More than the compass to the mariner Was thou, Felipa, to his dauntless soul. Through adverse winds that threatened wreck and night Of rayless gloom, thou pointedst ever To the north star of his great ambition. He Who has lost an Eden, or has gained A paradise by Eve's sweet influence, Alone can know how strong a spell lies in The witchery of a woman's beckoning hand. And thou didst draw him, tidelike, higher still.

Felipa, whispering the lessons learned From the courageous father till the flood Of his ambition burst all barriers. And swept him onward to his longed for goal. Before the jewels of a Spanish queen Built fleets to wait him on his untried way Thou gavest thy wealth of wisely sympathy To build the lofty purpose of his soul. And now the centuries have crested by Till thou art all forgotten by the throng That leads the great Pathfinder of the deep. It matters not in that infinitude Of space, where thou dost guide thy spirit back To undiscovered lands, supremely fair. If to this little planet thou couldst turn And voyage, wraithlike, to its cloud hung rim.

Thou wouldst not care for praise. And if perchance Some hand held out to thee a laurel bough, Thou wouldst not claim one wreath, but fondly turn To lay thy tribute also at his feet. —Annie E. Johnston in Harper's Weekly.

Wonderful Cures

DR. IWONG,

713 South Main Street, - - - Los Angeles, California.

醫世壽 精藥精脈

"Skillful cure increases longevity to the world."

"Ingeniously locating diseases through the pulse and excellent remedies are great blessings to the world."

The above are two facsimiles of many REWARDS OF MERIT or DIPLOMAS OF PROFESSIONAL SKILL, which have from time to time been awarded to the CELEBRATED CHINESE PHYSICIAN, DR. IWONG, for his superior medical abilities and curative powers.

It has long been customary among the Chinese people when one becomes sick and when unable to obtain a cure from any other physician, to seek the aid of Dr. IWONG, who is an eminent physician, he is cured of his disease, too in addition to the regular fee for professional services rendered, makes the physician a present as a token of gratitude for his restoration to health and the prolongation of his life. This present consists usually of a broad plank, presenting much the appearance of a sign-board, with characters entirely meaningless to the average English scholar, but full of meaning to the successful physician and his friends, a motto which highly compliments the physician for his great skill in effecting a cure of the disease which once afflicted the donor.

It is not an uncommon thing to see a great number of these COMPLIMENTARY DIPLOMAS adorning the office walls of Chinese physicians in their native country, and indeed a number of the most successful ones in this country are the happy possessors of a few of these high tokens of very superior medical ability.

MEYBERG BROS.

LADIES.

We wish to call attention to an article that has in the year past given perfect satisfaction to the many who have used it, and by their testimony, been proven that Watson's Peppermint Polish will not crack or injure the finest shoe any lady may wear. The manufacturers of different polishes claim there is nothing injurious to leather in their dressings. If so it is not strange that they use the same pungent odor that is used to hide impurities in cheap soap? Their claim is not consistent as long as they do this. Peerless Shoe Polish needs no perfume to hide anything used in its manufacture. It contains no acid, alcohol or ammonia. All we ask is an impartial trial according to directions, and we know you will use no other. Please ask your dealer for Watson's Peppermint Polish, and take no other. Peerless Polish Co., Los Angeles, Cal.
